If The Tower

Could Talk About Howe . . .

If the Tower could talk it would explain that in 1937 a new school was erected in Irvington, a short distance from the former Butler University campus. In honor of a previous president of the University, the building was named Thomas Carr Howe High School.

When school opened in September of 1938, Mr. Charles M. Sharp, the first principal, greeted 450 students and 16 teachers. When school opened in September of 1968, Mr. Thomas S. Stirling, who became principal in 1959, welcomed 2367 students and 126 teachers.

Tower Observes Changes During School's History

First year home economics students measure hems for their first school project.

Physical education classes take advantage of the nice weather for outside activity.

Looking inside to the classrooms of Howe, the Tower could speak of the many changes that have taken place in different departments of the school.

Until 1940, the Foreign Language Department was part of the English Department. When Howe opened, the library contained only one book, Webster's Dictionary; the English Department offered three courses; and the Science Department included only biology and general science.

Nearly thirteen thousand books are now housed in the library; many advanced courses are offered.

Mr. Thomas Stirling and Linda Johnson exhibit his paintings to the humanities class.

Mary Jane Freeland and Margaret Pash compare items purchased in Mexico.

Vice-principal Mr. Charles Ruschhaupt assists Joe Snodgrass and Dick Wood in the presentation of a P.A. announcement. Students publicize activities during the homeroom period.

Activities Keep Hornets At School After Classes

As the faithful guardian of Howe, the Tower has watched over all its activities and functions since it came into being. If it could talk of student activities, perhaps the first thing it would explain is why its clock never keeps good time. It might also tell of one of the many senior messages that have been hung from its height.

The Tower might recall the numerous dances and homecomings it has viewed from its strategic position above Howe.

Whether a student be involved in decorating the goal posts for a football game, or serving punch at a school dance, one can be sure that the Tower is aware of all Howe "happenings." Never does it cease its watchfulness.

Private Dave Hankins serves punch to a fellow R.O.T.C. cadet at their Ball.

Mrs. Patricia Alexander, yearbook sponsor, greets Howeites at the "Brown and Gold."

Year-Round Athletics

Encourage School Spirit

Athletics have kept the Tower on its toes from the very beginning. Cross-country, basketball and track began in the 1939-40 seasons; football in 1943; baseball in 1948; golf in 1941; tennis in 1955; and wrestling in 1957.

While the G.A.A. has participated in Play Days for many years, the Girls Gymnastic Team formed last year, was the first organized competitive girls' team.

Boys and girls have brought honor to themselves and to Howe in both inter-school competition and intramural contests.

Tim Smith practices to perfect a serve.

Gymnastic team members Syndie Cherry, Marilyn Duhamell, and Karla Pannell practice the free exercise maneuvers that they perform with piano accompaniment.

Capacity crowds fill the Hornet stadium to witness the football team in action.

Clubs Prove Vital Asset To Classroom Learning

Revelers member Norman McClain portrays Benedick in the play "Get Thee a Wife."

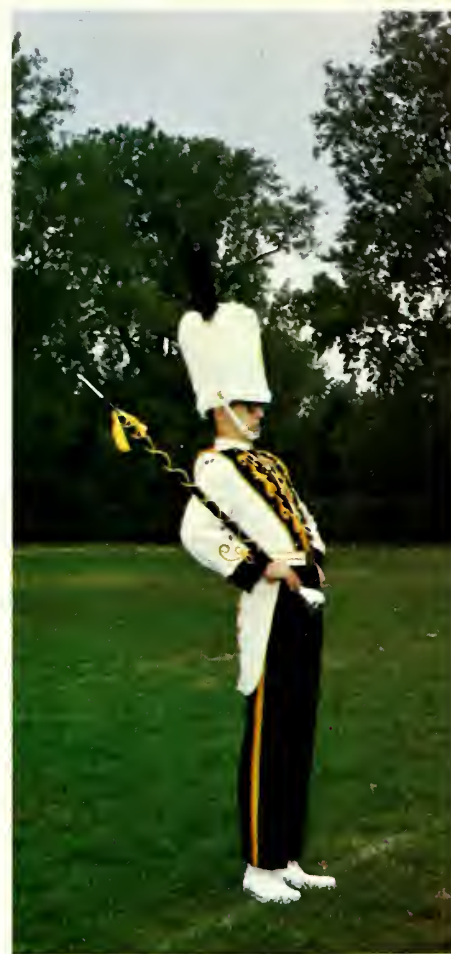

Cadet Captains Patti Dulin and Thomas Holman inspect Phillip Hill and Delbert Taylor prior to classroom review.

Many service, interest, and honorary organizations have operated under the scrutiny and care of Howe's Tower.

Numerous students participated in service projects this year. The Lettermen's Club took tickets at basketball games; the Student Council sponsored several after-game sock and shoe hops; and members of NHS spent many hours tutoring classmates.

Other students strived to be eligible for membership in honorary organizations, including Thespians, French and Spanish Honor Societies and Quill and Scroll.

Several interest groups concerned with subjects ranging from homemaking to outer space were also active at Howe this year.

Drum Major Gary Hill leads the band in parades and half-time shows.

R.O.T.C. honor guard line up for inspection by Major Marks, U.S. 5th Army.

Hornet Honeys Captain and Squad Leaders are Veronika Hanneman, Paula Barnes, Julia Alexander, and Carolyn Taylor.

Underclassmen Fill Years With Fun, Concentration

Thousands of underclassmen have passed beneath Howe's Tower. For most their four years of study have passed very quickly.

Frightened freshmen have eventually found their way through the maze of halls and classrooms. Sophomores have gradually acquired confidence as well as class rings. Juniors seem intent only on becoming seniors.

As the Tower has welcomed newcomers in the past, so will it continue in the future.

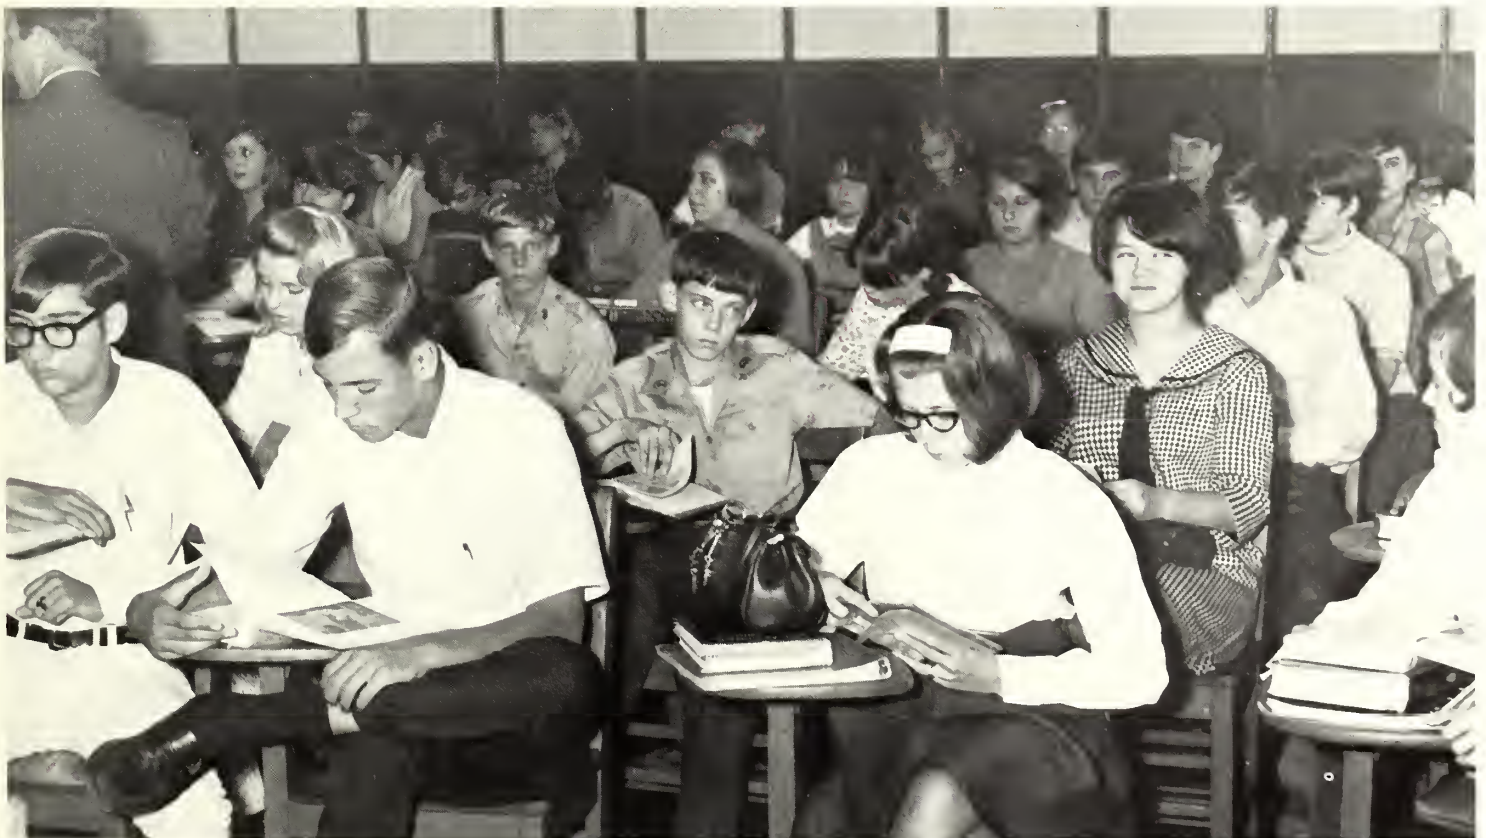

Enthusiastic Howeites cheer as the football team scores a touchdown.

During the homeroom period each morning, announcements are given over the P.A. After freshman homeroom business is attended to by Mr. John Ervin and Mrs. Sharon Koepper, students use extra time to improve their grades or just to relax.

Senior Kathy Patrick admires an emblem on Larry Miller's letter sweater.

Karen Petri and Don Britton, seniors, enjoy a brief conversation between classes.

Soon-to-be-graduated seniors listen attentively to the philosophy of a fellow classmate as she delivers one of four traditional student addresses given at commencement.

Commencement Lingers In Minds Of Graduates

In 1941 the Tower witnessed the graduation of the first senior class of Thomas Carr Howe High School. Since that time the Tower has observed many senior activities, including bicycle rides to school, the exclusive use of the Tower steps during senior week, and the annual senior play. Twenty-seven senior classes have participated in Vespers Services and have been graduated on Violet Hill. Blue, gold, and du-bonnet were the class colors selected in 1941. Five senior classes have chosen the colors of brown, gold, and light blue. Navy blue, light blue, and olive were picked as the class colors of 1969.

Seniors bid the Tower adieu as they pass through its doors following graduation ceremonies. Some never return again.

Graduating seniors join in the singing of a solemn hymn at the Vesper Service.

Mr. Tom Totten supervises as senior Gary Throckmorton models the traditional mortarboard with the assistance of classmates Charles Pettee and Kathy Washburn.

Gothic Tower Oversees Much Needed Additions

One of the gymnasium entrances reveals the Gothic style used by Howe's designers.

Part of the original Howe building, the Tower has since witnessed the construction of five school additions.

In 1940 the gym and locker rooms were added, a cafeteria was created in what is presently Room 17, and the first bookstore was opened in the current Senior Office. Construction of the R.O.T.C. rooms and the present bookstore was completed in 1955.

In 1963 the cafeteria wing was built. It included a much needed auditorium, eight science labs, the science lecture room, and today's cafeteria.

A long-awaited football stadium was added to Howe in 1965. Completed this year, it contains classrooms, locker rooms, rest-rooms and refreshment stand.

A side-walk connecting the front walk and the parking lot was poured last spring.

In the future the Tower will see play areas finished and possibly a new gym built.

Howe seems small and barren before the addition of the stadium and auditorium. The smokestack joins the Tower in its lonely vigil on a wintry day.

Today's building is only similar to the architect's original design for Howe.

When the stadium was added Howeites thought that construction was complete. This year's freshman class nearly doubled the senior roster. So, outgrown shops, physical education facilities, and library space will soon force another addition.

After 25 years of witnessing all assembly programs, dramatic productions, and dances in the gym, Howe students now enjoy an auditorium seating 1500.

If The Tower

Could Talk About Organizations . . .

Organizations have changed as students' interests have varied through the years. The Spanish Honor Society came into being last spring. In past years the Commercial Forum was replaced by the Future Business Leaders of America and the Girl Reserves, Girl Scouts, and Campfire Girls gave way to the Tri-Hi-Y group.

Two parent groups, the P.T.A. and Men's 400 Club, are included in Hornet organizations.

While interest is the only requirement for most clubs, some have competitive try-outs, others have rigid initiation requirements.

Howeites, Guests At All Home Games

Providing the spirit at football games, the enthusiasm at pep sessions, and the dignified atmosphere at Federal Inspection were only three of the many obligations of the Howe Band. Directed by Mr. Louis McEnderfer and Drum Major Gary Hill, the musicians added much to the activities.

The Girls' Drill Team marching under their new name, the "Hornet Honeys," executed lively routines at various Howe extra-curricular events this year. They were renamed by freshman Philip Sherrill in a school-wide contest.

Mrs. Ruth Mercer again sponsored the girls' organization with the aid of Veronika Hannemann, team captain.

For the first time this year the Band and Honeys performed intricate maneuvers together. Such features as a sombrero, a Spanish flea, and a Tijuana taxi that belched exhaust challenged the groups and delighted the crowd.

This year, for the first time, Howe's Orchestra wore formal uniforms during all of its appearances. Black full length skirts and white blouses for the girls and dark suits for the boys were chosen last spring by a committee of Orchestra members and Mr. William Handley, conductor.

Beginning with the Senior Play in November, when Senior members of the Orchestra traditionally conduct, the Orchestra played for many school and extra-curricular events during the year. The annual musical production, Senior Vesper Services and a Spring Concert for the Band and the Orchestra were some of the events participated in at Howe. A tour of near-by elementary schools and a Pops Concert on the Eastgate Mall were also included on the schedule for this busy group.

Talented Groups Enliven Activities

Howe's Choir, Madrigals, Girls' Octet, and Boys' Octet made up the major portion of the Music Department. As a group, the choir exhibited its skills on radio, in school, and on the downtown Circle during Christmas under the direction of Mr. Frank Watkins. Mr. Bob Bramblett led the Madrigals, an elite group of twenty-one. Both Girls' and Boys' Octets gave live performances for various organizations. Mr. Watkins and new teacher, Mr. Tom Lewis, conducted these groups. Mrs. Janet McNeill accompanied the groups and assisted all the directors. Heading the list of activities were the musical and the Music Festival in the spring.

Going over selections for their groups, Mr. Robert Bramblett and Mr. Thomas Lewis devote much time to Hornet vocalists.

Dedicated to the study of music, Mr. Frank Watkins, Music Department head, directs a church choir in addition to his school duties. A friend to all, students and adults alike, he is affectionately known as "Pop."

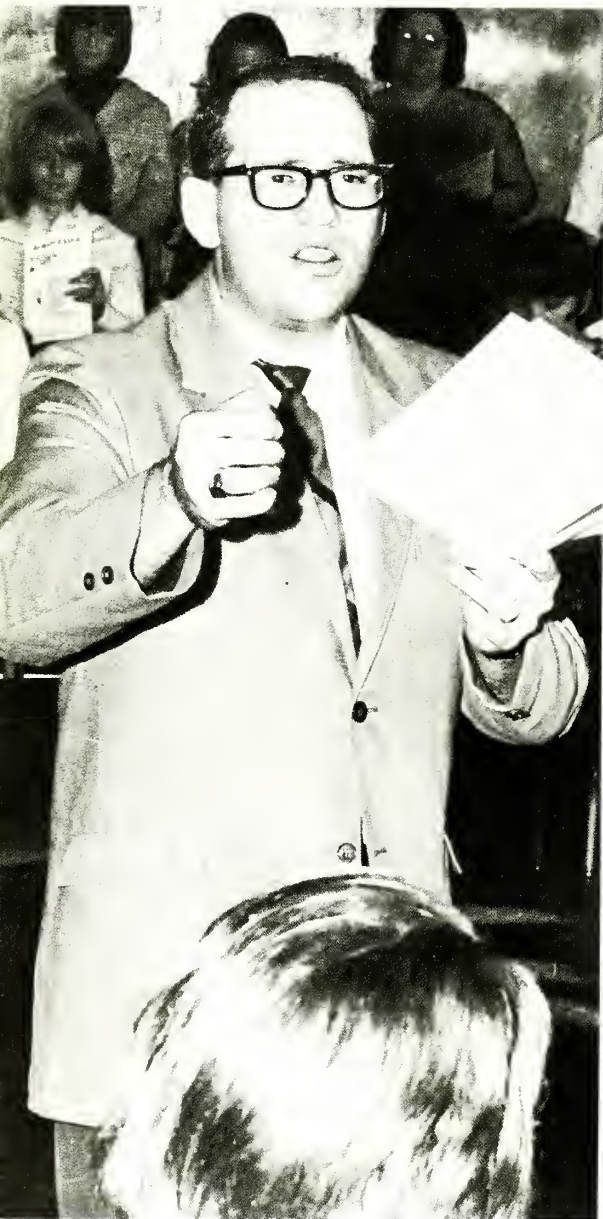

Concert Club Girls Gain

Fifty-eight girls made up this year's Concert Club. Most of the girls were picked from the girl's chorus classes. Being a member of Howe's choir is the ultimate goal of most Hornet vocalists.

A wide variety of music was sung including Negro spirituals and modern-day pop music. Hard work was put into the improvement of their numbers. They met with their director, Mr. Frank Watkins, every day to reach the peak of perfection. After this goal was achieved, the group performed here at Howe and at other places in the community. They participated in the PRV and the Music Festival as school functions. At activities outside of school they sang at neighboring churches and song festivals throughout Indianapolis.

Claudette Greene timidly sings a solo in chorus class. She has eager hopes of becoming a member of next year's Choralaires.

As director of the girls' chorus classes, Mr. Robert Bramblett works to prepare the novice groups for advanced music.

Marcia Thomas displays her musical abilities by presenting a solo to her fellow students as Mrs. Janet McNeill accompanies.

Becky McClary, Theresa Scott, Paula Launer, Judy Hollenbaugh, Patricia Evans, Diana Maudlin, Peggy Becklehimer, Deborah Archer. Third Row—Linda Richardson, Ruth Ann Grever, Kathy Orr, Landa Alexander, Susan Aldrich, Charlene Bass, Karen Grace, Margaret Martin, Kathy Hanes, Anita Powers, Sally Frick, Nancy DeFur, Cheryl Walker. Fourth Row—Carol Black, Debbie Cassidy, Concetta Raimondi, Syndie Cherry, Lynn Boyd, Deborah Wynn, Kathryn Frisbie, Helen Hudson, Paula Dickenson, Susan Cox, Christine Danforth, Christine Struck, Vicki Nicholson, Susie Nichols.

One of the primary performances of the Concert Club is to sing at Vespers during the week of commencement activities.

VARSITY CHEERLEADERS: Lita Blair, Marilyn Duhamell, Lee Ann Denham, Linda Johnson, Karla Pannell, and Mary Ring. Together, these girls worked to improve good sportsmanship and school spirit amongst Howeites attending all athletic events.

Cheerleaders Help Spark Enthusiasm

Visitors to athletic contests are greeted by Hornet Mascot Sherri Thomas.

RESERVE CHEERLEADERS: Front Row—Sue Evans, Susie Perkins, and Bobbie Bergdoll.

Back Row—Betty Rennard, Patty Marendt, and Debbie Maudlin.

Cheerleaders salute the colors as they are presented during pre-game ceremonies.

Lee Denham's contagious enthusiasm helps boost Hornet spirit.

Throughout Each Athletic Season

Vivacious, athletic and spirited are just a few of the many words which can be used to describe this year's cheerleading squads.

Last summer, seven of the varsity cheerleaders brought honor to Howe from Valparaiso's Cheerleading Camp. Mary Ring, Marilyn Duhamell, Karla Pannell and Lee Denham won four first place ribbons and one second place in their division.

Three reserves, Betty Rennard, Debbie Maudlin and Susie Perkins also won four firsts and one second plus the spirit stick.

This year's freshman squad displayed their talents at varsity games as well as at their own.

All squads combine their talents in directing the Booster Club, organizing pep sessions and making spirit signs and tags.

Defensive lineman Chuck Welcher crashes through the colorful "spirit sign".

Hilltopper

During spring vacation Debbie Blackmon, Karen Boekankamp, Mrs. Patricia Alexander, Marcia Reasoner and Karla Kraeszig visited the American Yearbook Company in Hannibal, Mo.

Each spring tryouts for the yearbook staff are held. Applicants must draw up two spreads and write the copy and captions needed for the pages. The new staff's first assignment is to organize the Turnabout Twirl.

Last summer Karla Kraeszig, editor-in-chief, and Janet Cowgill attended a two-week workshop at Ball State University. Plans for this book were begun during a visit to the American Yearbook Company last spring.

This year's "Brown and Gold" dance, sponsored by the staff, played host to 550 students and had a "Roaring Twenties" theme.

"Hideaway" hostesses Debbie Blackmon, Donna Reifeis and Karen Boekankamp tempt guests with giant dice and play money.

Editors Margaret Pash and Karla Kraeszig discuss a few of the many problems that arise when working long hours to meet a fast-approaching deadline.

Members of the yearbook staff happily take time from their hectic schedule to greet their friends with smiles and shouts as they pass to their fourth hour assignments.

Paper Reports School Life

Page Two Editor Jerry Stockdale checks an assignment sheet while Sally Richardson, News Bureau chief, types her story.

The Howe Tower, Hornet newspaper published since 1939, was so named because the publication office was originally located in the Tower itself.

As in the past this year's paper has reported current activities, presented some editorial comments and added a bit of humor to the scholastic atmosphere.

The 1967-68 editions received the National Scholastic Press Association's First Class rating and an "A" rating from the National Newspaper Service.

Phyllis Hawkins, senior, was named editor. She was ably assisted by Pam McKim, managing editor, and Roberta Skelton, Jerry Stockdale, Mary Jane Freeland and Phil Coffin, page editors. Sally Richardson was news bureau chief.

Literary Organizations Require Ingenuity

Pen Points, Howe's literary magazine, was a result of the combined efforts of students and first year sponsor, Mrs. Patricia Alexander. This bi-annual booklet contained prose, poetry, and essays submitted by talented English pupils.

Each May at the annual Publications Banquet, the honorary chapter of Quill and Scroll initiates members. Upperclass editors of the newspaper, yearbook and literary magazine are eligible for membership in the club.

Council Plays Main Role In School

Karla Pannell, Tim Boosinger and Gary Throckmorton leave for the convention.

Planning dances, contests and other school projects were the main objectives of this year's Student Council.

During the spring semester each homeroom elected its representative and from these members the cabinet was chosen.

At the first all-school assembly in the fall Mr. Thomas Stirling, principal, installed Tim Boosinger, president. Tim then led the Council in its pledge of office.

Two new activities were scheduled by the Council this year. They sponsored the first "shoe-hop" after a football game and planned a party for the teachers during the semester break.

Hornet Quiz Team 'Socks It To 'Em'

Following weeks of strenuous tryouts, first year coach Mr. Ron Finkbiner, selected six of the top competitors for this year's Quiz Team, Tom Amos, captain, Hal Gustin, Dick Wood, Phil Coffin and alternates John Easterday and Jerry Stockdale.

Switching from the "Exercise In Knowledge" program to "High School Bowl" aired on WFBM, the team was able to chalk up victory after victory against rivals, Pike, Shortridge, and Southport. The three consecutive wins which were dependent upon quick recall of facts, retired the team as champions.

A special match between North Central's four, the first retired champions of the year, and the Hornet quartet resulted in another Howe victory, 315 to 125.

Tap Day, Initiation Begin NHS Activities

Carl Lagenaur congratulates Pam McKim as he presents the NHS arm band to her.

Senior Jerry Stockdale was elected president of the National Honor Society this year. His cabinet included Nancy Bruner, vice-president, and Karla Kraeszig, secretary. This organization recognizes the academic students of Howe. To become a member of NHS, one must be in the upper ten per cent of his junior class and the upper fifteen per cent of his senior class. He must also maintain a six point grade average.

In the spring of each year, new members are added to NHS. Initiates are judged on the qualities which are the ideals of the society: character, leadership, scholarship, and service. During the week following Tap Day, the future members wore the familiar arm bands which signified that they were soon to be accepted into the honorary organization. Members gave of their services by tutoring underclassmen.

It is the goal of most Howeites to become a member of NHS.

Newly initiated upperclassmen proudly bear the responsibility of an NHS member.

Spanish Students Join National Society

Superior students enrolled in advanced Spanish last spring organized the Howe chapter of the Spanish National Honor Society. It is the only such chapter functioning in an Indianapolis public high school.

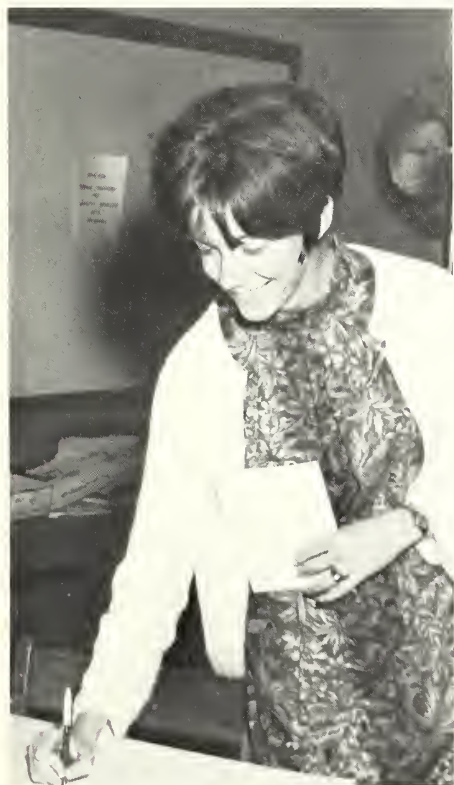

Phyllis Hawkins, senior, was elected president last fall and with the assistance of Miss Mary Thumma, department head, officiated at the monthly meetings. Named for the Spanish educator, Domingo Sarmiento Sautina, the club chose red and gold for its colors. This year the group visited a Spanish church.

Language students enrolled in their fifth semester of Spanish study at Howe are eligible for membership. On Tap Day those eligible observed a club meeting and formal initiation followed.

French Majors Master Language Study

To acknowledge the French students who have mastered their language, the French National Honor Society accepts pupils completing five semesters of the language at Howe while maintaining a six-point grade average.

Formal initiation ceremonies were held in the spring for those meeting the qualifications. During the bi-weekly meetings, films of France were viewed and topics of international interest were discussed. When the year's program was planned, a trip to an exquisite French restaurant headed the agenda. Other added attractions included observing French movies and foreign stage plays.

Students Learn To Speak With Ease

Talented speakers from the speech and debate teams made up the National Forensic League. An honorary organization sponsored by Mr. Steven Briggs, it accepted only those who had accumulated twenty-five honor points which were acquired in competition with other high schools.

Speech meets held each week included presentations of poetry reading, dramatic, humorous, and oratorical interpretations, radio announcing, and extemporaneous speaking. Like the speech team, the debate team took part in several meets and considered the question, "Resolved: that the U.S. should establish compulsory service for all citizens."

Business managers, directed by Mr. David Stahly, science teacher, were one of the most active groups involved in extra-curricular activities. They could be seen selling tickets in a small booth at the entrance to the stadium or at the front door of the gym during home games. They also provided the ushers and ticket-takers for plays, musical performances and programs throughout the year.

Besides the outside look, there was quite a bit of inside work to be done. Managers spent long hours after school keeping records of the attendance at each program for tax purposes and balancing the school's books.

Junior Laura Reasoner begins a tallie of the number of tickets sold at a performance before attempting to balance the books for Mr. Stahly.

ATOM DUST EDITORS: Juana Quinones, Sharon Brinson, Marcia Stroud, Carolyn

Martin, Jody Becklehimer. They work together to put out the monthly newspaper.

Brent Kern and Marcia Stroud, seniors, count the bacterial growth on an agar plate.

Club Members Prepare Papers, Projects

Representatives from each science class were appointed at the beginning of the year to report class activities to Atom Dust editors. The monthly publication was written, mimeographed and distributed by this branch of the Science Club. Both groups are under the direction of Miss Jerry Motley, biology teacher.

Members were also asked to choose special projects which would be entered in both state and local competition.

Seniors Marcia Stroud and Brent Kern were invited to present scientific research papers at the Indiana Junior Academy at Ball State University. Each received outstanding awards in microbiology.

Kingery, Tom Amos, Ed Warriner, Perry Gann, Tom Hamill, Norman McClain, Roger Bailey, Ron Spice, Janice DeCoito, Chris Worrell.

Dramatists Demonstrate Theatrical Talent

Learning the basic fundamentals of the stage, the Footlight Revelers worked to improve their dramatic skills. Throughout the year, several one-act plays were produced to give each member an opportunity to display his talents. Other jobs of the Revelers included working on stage crew, make-up crew, and helping direct the plays. When a Reveler had 100 hours of stage experience, he was eligible to become a member of the National Thespian Troupe. Participants in this honorary organization had the opportunity to attend conventions held during the year.

Both the Footlight Revelers and the National Thespian Troupe were sponsored by Mrs. Hariette Baker who also directed the productions presented for the public.

Jeff Braun and other crew members keep busy building sets for school plays.

Crew's Essential To Stage Productions

Sophomore Ron Meadows and freshman Roger Paulson assemble a Christmas tree to give the stage an atmosphere appropriate for the holiday season.

Students dedicated to the production of plays and musicals made up the Stage Crew. Helping back stage included many duties: putting make-up on cast members, arranging costumes, controlling the sound and lighting, and building sets and backdrops. Any person interested in the procedure of putting on a show was eligible for this club.

Mr. Bruce Beck directed all the stage work, much of which was done on Saturday afternoons. Putting on a good production was the desire of every crew member. Without the efforts of this group, it would be impossible to have had the plays that Howe enjoyed.

Representatives To Model U.N.

Four of the sixteen Hi-Y members participating in this year's Model U.N. are John Easterday, (Madagascar), Ralph Ramierz (Singapore), Bill Totten and John Harkness (Australia).

Sponsored by the YMCA, the Model U.N. familiarized the participants with the functions of the original U.N. Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y clubs throughout Marion County and Kokomo were eligible to send delegates to this convention held for three days in April in the Indiana State House.

Each Country in the original U.N. was represented by a chairman and a delegate in the Model U.N. who, after doing thorough research on their specific country, dressed as natives of that nation. Bills were submitted by the delegates; a Secretary-General was elected.

After attending the sessions of the Model U.N., students had a greater understanding of the value of parliamentary procedure and the basic structure of the U.N. itself.

Tri-Hi-Y members Nellie Allseitz, Chris Worrell, Meredith Craig, Pam Legg, Terri Jump, Louise Whitehurst and Barbara Bowen are representing the respective countries, Romania, Botswana, Mauritius and Bulgaria, at the annual session of the Model United Nations.

Tri-Hi-Y sponsors Miss Mary McLane and Mrs. Beverly Elrod and Hi-Y sponsor Mr. Robert Hessong aid members in club activities.

Two Clubs Appeal To Mathematicians

Hagy, Thomas Strickland, Mark Reasoner. Third Row—Mark Benson, Robert Cline, Charles Hartle, Phil Elden, Ron Heustes.

For freshmen who were taking algebra and who were interested in learning more about mathematics, the Subset Club taught skills that were not explained in the regular class. Visited by several speakers explaining new math techniques, the club also learned to manipulate the slide rule. Socially concerned too, the group enjoyed a Christmas party. Inspiring the math students to add more math to their schedule, Mrs. Mary Smuck sponsored the club.

One of the few clubs to meet every week, the Chess Club, directed by Mr. Jack Weaver, gave members a chance to improve their skill at the ancient game. After competing in intra- and interschool competitions, the players looked forward to participating in the State Chess Tourney.

Jeff Paulson prepares films to be returned to the audio-visual center.

Mechanically-Minded Mind Machines

Students found that there were varied ways to assist teachers. Via the Audio-Visual Club, members gave one period a day to deliver films and projectors to classrooms. Being in the club meant learning, through Mr. Richard Hammond, the mechanics of projectors and making minor repairs when needed. Members operated the P.A. equipment while the home-room announcements were made and during assemblies and other extra-curricular activities.

Howe has recently started a new club for those interested in the space program. Here, the Astro-Rocket Club gave members a chance to learn about the solar system and the mechanics of space vehicles in modern times.

FTA Studies Techniques Of Teaching

Attaining knowledge about the teaching profession was the goal of the Future Teachers of America. Guided by Miss Patricia Fitzpatrick, English teacher, the club conducted meetings every two weeks. During these meetings demands of the profession and how to meet them were discussed. Elementary teachers from nearby grade schools also told of their experiences. Junior president Katrina Hughes presided for the second consecutive year.

Valuable information was received from the different colleges and universities around the country. This enabled members to examine courses that the institutions offered in the field of teacher training education.

Secretary Mary Ann Stewart talks over the minutes of the last FTA meeting with sponsor Miss Patricia Fitzpatrick.

FBLA Capitalizes On Business' Interests

Brinson, Anita Powers. Third Row—Joyce Boyd, Kathy Mealey, Lynn Boyd.

Students interested in the field of business found that Future Business Leaders of America was the organization to which they should belong. Directed this year by Mrs. Sharon Koepper, first year business teacher, members strived to understand the problems involved in the business world.

FBLA members attended state and national conferences and conventions with other chapters in this area. At these gatherings members met with experienced businessmen who gave them the facts about being a part of this society.

Officers this year were Susan Smith, president, Patti Dulin, vice-president and Lynn Boyd, secretary.

A speaker from Allison's Data Processing Department attracted many visitors to one meeting.

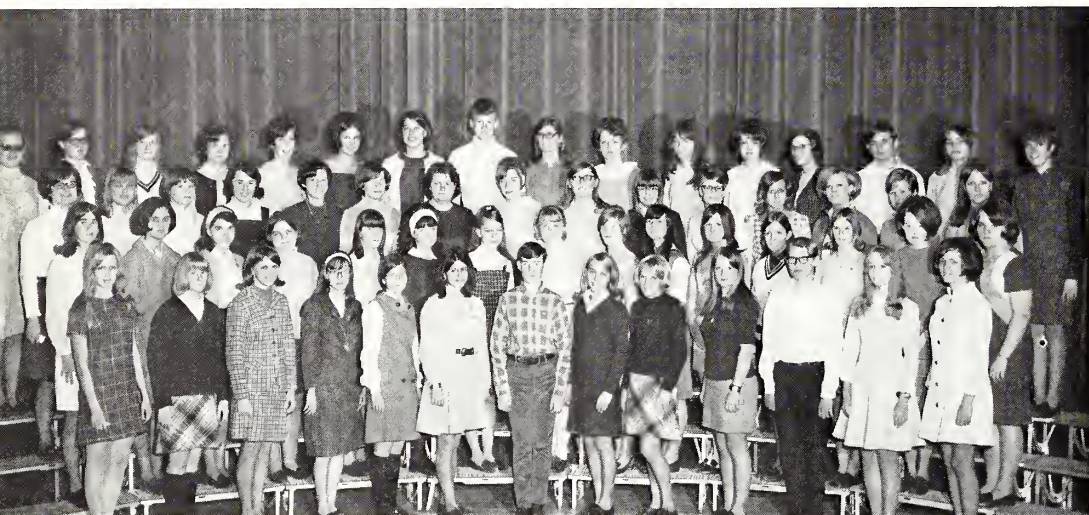

Senior Kathy Mealey delivers the notice of an FBLA meeting to the office so that it can be placed in the weekly bulletin.

Since typing is basic to the business world, students enrolled in class, and especially members of FBLA, practice before and after school to improve their skill.

Teachers Receive Needed Aid From Helpers

Several students devoted one period a day to work as office messengers. While working in the pupil personnel office, they delivered notes to students and teachers, guided new pupils and visitors around the building, typed and ran off general school notices, sorted mail and helped with the absence lists. Receiving aid from the helpers were the deans, department heads, school nurse and the bookstore manager.

A new materials center was begun to expand library facilities. It included a Xerox machine, record players and tape recorders.

Both girls and boys interested in library experience helped in the school library under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Smith. They repaired books, replaced them in the stacks and traced lost volumes, in addition to preparing weekly displays in the showcase opposite the library.

Students Acquire Greater Understanding

Following Roman customs, the Latin Club members dressed as Roman serfs for a slave sale in the fall. As the Christmas season approached, Latin carols were sung and the Roman Saturnalia was celebrated. Honor was given to Cupid on Valentines Day, and the birth of Rome was commemorated in the spring. Officers pledged to promote the Roman culture.

Because history is the study of past and present events, the History Club contemplated geneology, the study of family origins, and current events. As its main project, a survey of the Irvington area was made which enabled the members to become a part of the Junior Historical Society.

Swift, Sandra McCord, Stephanie Miller, Dena Brown, Lynn Boyd, Dorothea Bernard, Deborah Blackmon.

Nine volunteer alternates from the Student Council this year re-organized the Red Cross Club. Under the direction of Mrs. Mildred Loew, the group collected contributions from Howeites during homeroom periods. Outside of school they distributed posters for the Tuberculosis Association to local business establishments. At the beginning of the semester Kathy McClure was elected to the city council to keep the group informed of special projects.

Touring hospitals, practicing first aid procedures and hearing lectures on medical professions were only a few activities of the Medical Careers Club. Mrs. Margaret Whaley, club sponsor and school nurse, aided students in discovering the field of medicine.

Secretary Kathy Mealey goes over the minutes of a previous meeting with Lynn Boyd.

Girls Prepare For Future Homemaking

Karen Phelps, Brenda Duncan, Mary Stewart, and Anne Wrancher receive assistance from club sponsor, Miss Marlyn Naylor, as they knit on various projects.

New teacher, Miss Marlyn Naylor, sponsored this year's Home Economics Club and, with the help of officers, Karen Phelps, Becky McKay, Carol Black, and Penny Scott, planned the club's calendar. Social events included a welcome party, a Christmas party, and a fashion show. On the educational side, speakers came to talk on areas of beauty, fashion, and food. As this year's theme was "Do It Yourself", the girls learned to construct projects and perform services throughout the school without the help of others.

To the members, being in the Home Ec Club meant learning to manage a household and enjoy it.

Developing a household skill, senior Jeanette Morgan tries her hand at the iron.

Active P.T.A. members prepare "Know Howe", their quarterly publication, for mailing. Parents depend upon the publication for information about school functions.

Principal Mr. Thomas Stirling and president Mrs. J. Mason Garrett confer about agenda.

Members of the Parent-Teacher Association spent the year working for the betterment of Howe. Directed by President Mrs. J. Mason Garrett, the PTA, along with the 400 Club, manned the concession stand during the football season, as well as planned the annual Fish Fry, enjoyed their Bridgeorama, and hosted the spring card party.

Operating through the theme, "The Now Generation," PTA members held four general meetings during the year. In addition special parent education programs were held four mornings during the year. These coffee hour socials served two purposes: Howe mothers became better acquainted; current educational happenings were discussed.

Selling memberships is the main job of Mrs. Albert Stroud and Mrs. Paul Carmean.

Activities, Encourage Spirit

Selling cokes to the crowd during halftime was the job of Mr. John Baker.

An active organization for fathers of Howe students and teachers was the Men's 400 Club. Seen from one end of the school to the other, the Hornet patrons took tickets, sold license plates, pens, and membership cards and helped in the refreshment stand. These men endeavored to support the general welfare of the student body by providing equipment not maintained by the School Board.

Members of the 400 Club also formed committees to better the organization. Officers for this year were Mr. Conrad Romeril, president; Mr. George Moore, secretary; Mr. E. C. Summitt, Jr., treasurer; Mr. Horace Pettee, advisor; and Mr. Charles Ruschhaupt.

If The Tower

Could Talk About Academics . . .

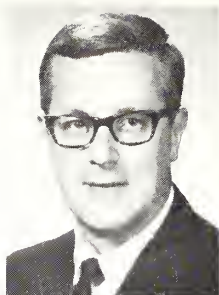

Although no new classes were scheduled this year, students gained experience by taking the advice of competent teachers and by utilizing special equipment. Each department held monthly meetings to discuss current problems. Advanced classes further developed the knowledge obtained from required courses.

While countless students attended summer school or university institutes, teachers participated in workshops to gain new ideas and to learn new teaching methods. The Tower saw both pupils and faculty benefit from these.

Handling discipline as well as problems ranging from the request for new drill team uniforms to the complications of building changes, the administration provided students with valuable assistance. Mr. Ray Riley, previously affiliated with the Science Department, advanced to the position of assistant to Mr. Robert Carnal, Dean of Boys. Mrs. Mildred Loew completed her twentieth year as Dean of Girls.

Mr. Thomas Stirling, principal, was assisted by Vice-Principals Mr. Frank Tout, who handled programs, and Mr. Charles Ruschhaupt, who dealt with finance.

New Counselors Assist Howeites

Counseling students concerned with program changes, Howe's Guidance Department helped pupils make academic decisions which will influence their succeeding years of higher education.

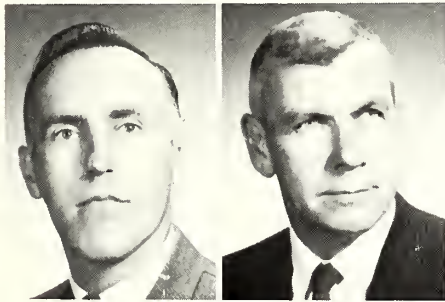

Several changes were made concerning the composition of the department. Mr. Thomas Totten replaced Mr. William Murray as Director of Guidance. Mrs. Patricia Alexander, who formerly taught biology, was an active counselor as well as Director of Publications. Mr. Robert Hessong, who was new at Howe this year, served as sophomore advisor.

Of Composition Conferences

Under the direction of Miss Ellen O'Drain, the English Department offered students a basic knowledge which afforded them the ability to communicate. Before graduation, each pupil is required to have completed English 1-6, but he may also elect English 7-10, dramatics, etymology, library experience, journalism, or speech.

One unique program initiated by the English Department is that of the composition conferences. Every student enrolled in an English class had an individual twenty minute conference focusing on composition. Each pupil also had a cumulative folder containing examples of work accomplished in former English classes. During the composition conference, the student and his teacher discussed current performances, past records, and evident improvements.

Howeites Represent School At Seminars

During the summer, Howe's Science Department, headed by Mr. William Smith, was very well represented at university-sponsored seminars throughout the states. At Indiana University, Mr. Gwaltney studied under the National Science Foundation and produced a film on the use of the buret. Mr. Edwards attended two similar institutes held at the University of Pennsylvania and at Beaver College in New York. Five students participated in programs at Indiana University, Purdue, and the University of South Dakota.

When school re-opened, a new set of microscopes was purchased for the biology classes which were mainly composed of sophomores. Freshmen elected general science, while the advanced student progressed to chemistry, physics, biology 3, or chemistry 3.

Additional overhead projectors and a new series of film strips concerned with Communism allowed the department, headed by Mr. Hartwell Kayler, to present a more complete view of history as well as current events. Classes using these facilities included world history, U.S. history, and government. Instruction was also offered in areas of economics, psychology, Indiana history, and Latin American civilization.

During calculus class, Mrs. Marie Wilcox explains the method of obtaining the solution to a set of derivative equations to seniors Gil Hailey and Jerry Stockdale.

During the year, the Mathematics Department prepared to initiate a new course, Preparatory Math, to be offered to 9Bs enrolled in summer school. It is believed that this will benefit the freshman who is just below the algebra level, allowing him to gain knowledge of needed mechanics and progress to the next level in September. Remaining freshmen comprise classes of basic and general mathematics.

Mrs. Marie Wilcox, noted authoress of five textbooks, headed the department of ten teachers, who taught classes of geometry, advanced algebra, trigonometry, and calculus. Computer math and the senior math course were dropped from the curriculum.

Ralph Brooks and Bill Smoot relate trigonometrical figures to theorems.

Additional Equipment, Honor Studies

Students in Mr. Raymond Hulce's Spanish 1 class use the facilities in the foreign language lab. Tapes and records provide pupils an opportunity to improve their accent by trying to imitate the pronunciation of words spoken by a master voice.

Spanish teachers Mr. Raymond Hulce and Mr. Rogelio Riquelme discuss class routines.

Department Head Miss Mary Thumma evaluates some advanced Spanish papers.

Additional materials for overheads, two new teachers—Mr. Timothy Carson and Miss Susan Webb—and a different series of textbooks broadened the scope of the Foreign Language Department, headed by Miss Mary Thumma.

Students who elected a foreign language enrolled in Spanish, Latin or French. Those who excelled in these classes were given the opportunity to study their respective languages abroad through the I.U. Honors Program. Participants from Howe included Margaret Pash and Mary Jane Freeland who studied in Mexico, Jerry Stockdale who traveled to France, and Anne Cobb who gained knowledge of Latin in Italy.

Boys enrolled in beginning metals and woodwork classes created objects which appealed to their own interests. In advanced courses, they built lamps, tables and tools. Printing classes supplied programs for school activities.

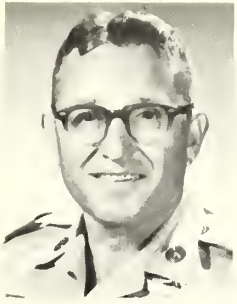

Becky McWilliams, one of the few girls enrolled in a drafting class, works a problem.

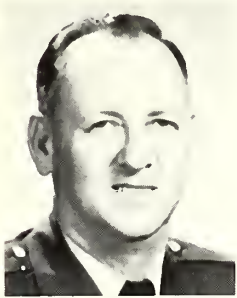

Joe Lee, a sophomore, uses the lathe to curve and design the wood for his project in wood shop. Each student must complete a required number of projects.

SFC Bascom Perdue

This year the R.O.T.C. Department was faced with the largest enrollment in its classes since the course was first offered at Howe in 1955. Through extensive practice and drills, cadets and sponsors strove for perfection as they performed in the parades, meets, and drills throughout the school year.

A new look was noticed in the department with the addition of new sponsor's uniforms and revised drill team attire. A new school shield and symbolic battle ax were designed and used in various formations. Sergeant Harold Eckman exchanged places with Sergeant Bascom Perdue and became the Battalion Commandant. William Holman was Battalion Commander.

Participating in the annual Veteran's Day Parade, the battalion staff leads the other marching companies.

Active Students Keep Physically Fit

Physical education classes prepare boys for participation in basketball.

Freshmen girls must master basketball skills of dribbling the ball and guarding the opponent.

Physical education classes grew again this year with the course required of all incoming freshmen.

Rules and skills of team sports, volleyball, softball, and basketball, were taught to both boys and girls as were gymnastic fundamentals. Girls utilized rhythmic to improve posture, grace and dance techniques; boys enjoyed touch football and soccer.

Individual sports, archery and golf, as well as tennis, received their share of attention in gym classes, too. When the weather permitted, classes were held out of doors.

Hoping to improve his time, Jerry Pastrick, a freshman, "muscles up" the rope.

Students Train For Future Driving

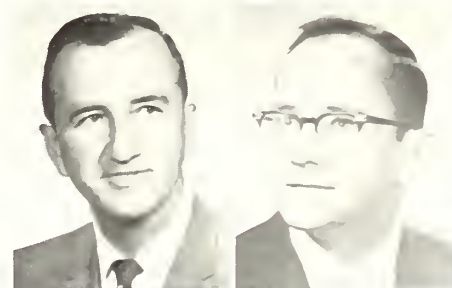

Mrs. Margaret Whaley, school nurse, checks student health records for accuracy.

Learning the rules and regulations of mastering the automobile is only a small part of the driver education program. Also included, the actual driving experience under the supervision of a skilled and competent instructor, played an important part in the safety of the future drivers enrolled. The presentation of films on automobile accidents and accident prevention stressed upon the student the importance of driving know-how.

One of the required courses at Howe, health classes provided an opportunity for students to learn about the functions of the different body parts and the symptoms, prevention and analyzation of diseases. A six-week study in first aid provided instruction in the basic procedures of preliminary care to be followed in case of accidents or other emergencies.

Department Revives Clerical Course

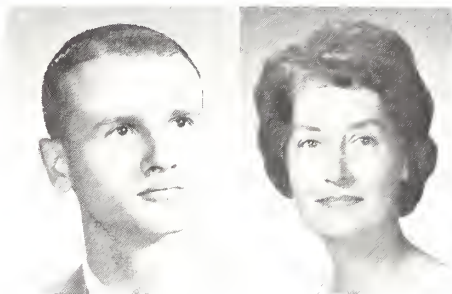

Mr. George Jackson Mr. David Baugh

Mrs. Linda Hankins Miss Jean Hoilman

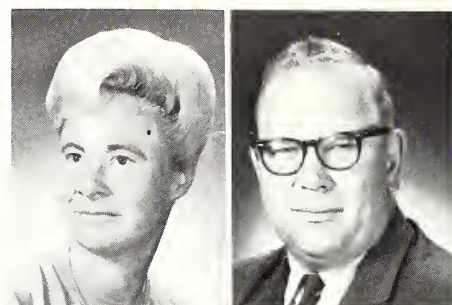

Mr. Sherman Pittenger Miss Kathie Ruckriegle

Mr. John Skene Mrs. Luise Smith

Three teachers joined the Business Department staff which was headed by Mr. George Jackson. Miss Yvonne Peak changed from office work to teaching at Howe. Mrs. Sharon Koepper taught at Arlington High School before she came to Howe, and after two years of teaching at Bunker Hill, Indiana, Miss Kathie Ruckriegle joined the Hornet staff.

Another addition to the department was the reviving of the clerical practice course. This course was offered a few years ago, but was discontinued because of lack of interest. It again offered students interested in the business world, valuable experiences in the field. Other courses offered in the department provided training in machine calculation, data processing and bookkeeping in addition to typing and shorthand.

Girls Prepare For Homemaking Arts

Increased enrollment in home economic courses necessitated the addition of two teachers to the department. Mrs. Doris Cartwright, who recently revised the textbook, The Practical Nurse and Today's Family, replaced Mrs. Lois Coy as department head.

In clothing classes, girls advanced from making blouses to sewing coats and suits. In the spring, girls in food classes cooked lunches for the teachers after completing less difficult cooking courses. Home nursing and home management were also offered.

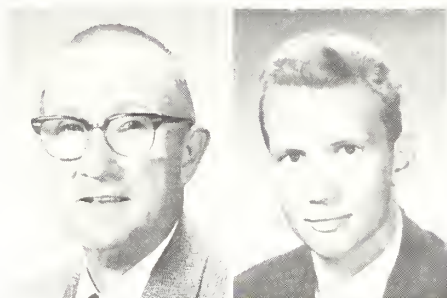

Patty Plowman, Karen Quinn and Pat McFerran demonstrate three important steps (cutting, basting, and sewing) in the completion of a clothing project.

Creative Students Develop Artistic Talent

Mr. F. M. Howard Mr. William Cunningham

Art appreciation for the less skilled as well as art techniques for the talented were stressed by Mr. F. M. Howard's department.

Students worked with a variety of materials to create articles for gifts and for their own use in crafts classes. In advanced art students concentrated on portraits and landscapes in oils, pastels and charcoal. Abstractions and proportions in pencil, pen and ink were studied.

In hopes of preparing a course of study entitled art history, Mr. F. M. Howard experimented with this type of material in his various classes this year. He plans to use it in the future.

Art students also make crowns for dance royalty and advertising posters for other departments.

Hornet Musicians Move At Fast Pace

Under the direction of Mr. Frank Watkins, the Music Department completed another year of varied vocal and instrumental performances.

Howe's Christmas gift to the community, a musical program that included both religious songs and the antics of Santa's elves, was presented at an evening show and again later for the student body.

Annually the Spring Music Festival reveals the many hours of dedicated practice which students sacrifice to perfect their talents. Both vocal and instrumental festivals were held on separate evenings to provide entertainment for those interested in each field of music.

Choreography and acting ability, voices and instruments, were combined by the department to complete another musical show. Performances in the PRV, at Vespers and commencement, in addition to many outside shows kept Hornet musicians moving at a fast pace all year long.

Pert Office Staff Keeps Howe Going

Mrs. Roberta Fallows

Mrs. Virginia Hall

Mrs. Dorothy Heniser

Vital to any school's operation is a well qualified office staff. Nine women kept Howe's offices running smoothly.

Mrs. Eloise Steed, registrar, enrolled new students, prepared transcripts and filed official withdrawals and transfers. It was her responsibility to record monthly attendance reports for the downtown office.

Mrs. Margaret Poole became the principal's secretary when Mrs. Norris Heidleman retired. Her duties included preparation of the weekly bulletin and distribution of the mail as well as assisting Mr. Stirling.

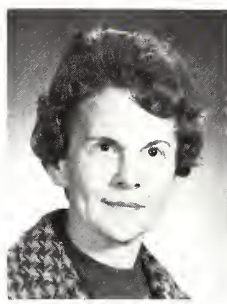

Newcomer to the staff, Mrs. Dorothy Johnson worked in the English office each morning and operated the PBX board each afternoon. Other women were "Girl Friday's" to the administrators. All provided needed services.

Maintenance worker, Mr. Edgar Turpin, works to keep cafeteria in good condition.

Busy Workers Supply Student Needs

CAFETERIA STAFF: Front Row—Mrs. Vonda Foley, Mrs. Florence Evans, Mrs. Norma Dunn, Mrs. Hope Henderson, Mrs. Flossie Nugent, Mrs. Henrietta Larison, Mrs. Rosie Sechrest, Mrs. Martha Dalton. Second Row—Mrs. Grace Wells, Mrs. Lucille Reifeis, Mrs. Margaret Kahl, Mrs. Hazel Holycross, Mrs. Clara Mosmeier, Mrs. Kathleen Kidwell, Mrs. Helen Obery, Mrs. Barbara Collier. Third Row—Mrs. Helen Stafford, Mrs.

Doris Williams, Mrs. Maude Adams, Mrs. Gladys Hartle, Mrs. Mabel Allen, Mrs. Ester Chambless, Mrs. Anneliese Puschmann, Mrs. Mildred Lindauer, Mrs. Sophie Shone. Back Row—Mrs. Kathleen O'Maley, Mrs. Cara Bolmer, Mrs. Joyce Bertram, Mrs. Juanita Smith, Mrs. Ruth Taylor, Mrs. Marguerite Fender, Mrs. Stella Minnis, Mrs. Kathleen Maudlin, Mrs. Ruth Laughlin.

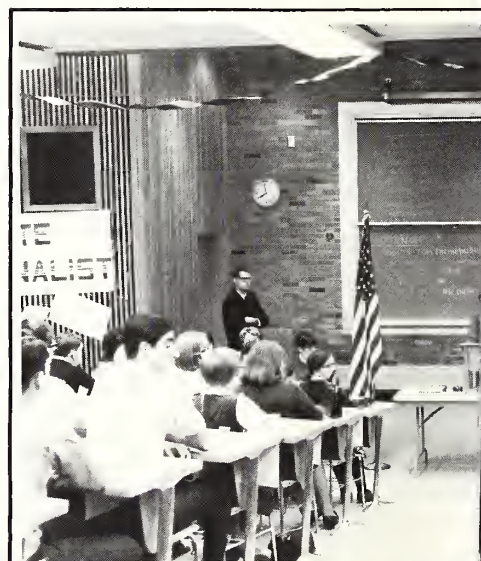

As a result of the increased enrollment, an additional lunch period beginning at 10:00 a.m. was added to the schedule this year. Because the cafeteria can seat only 500, it was mandatory that the school revert to the third period lunch utilized prior to the completion of the present facilities in 1963.

To meet these needs, Mrs. Helen Obery, head of the cafeteria workers, found it necessary to employ additional cooks to prepare the food, serve it and wash the dishes. In addition to these jobs, mothers of students enrolled in Howe volunteered their services at the banquets.

Extra maintenance men were also needed to keep up the building and its surroundings. These workers were headed by Mr. John DuChemin.

If The Tower

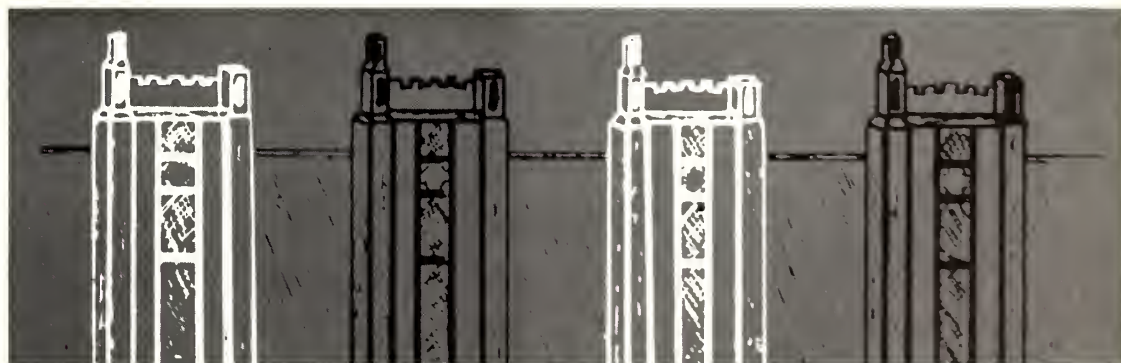

Could Talk About Activities . . .

Providing the "fun" part of school life were the many extracurricular activities Howe offered its students. They performed in the annual PRV, attended numerous school dances and acted and sang professionally in the musical production, "South Pacific."

Homecoming queens reigned over two nights of festivities this fall and great statesmanship and political know-how was displayed in this year's Mock Election. A proud Tower congratulated the Federalist winners upon their landslide victory. Honors Day in the spring ended an active Hornet year.

Smiling Queens Reign Over Festive

The 1968 Football Homecoming Queen candidates are Becky Sigmon, Penny Overstreet, Jana Pritz, Marilyn Duhamel, Jerri Moody, Betty Rennard, Pam Hilligoss and Barbara Thompson.

Junior Betty Rennard was chosen the 1968 Football Homecoming Queen. She received her flowers and necklace from John Easterday, who represented the Student Council. Other candidates included seniors Jerri Moody and Marilyn Duhamel, junior Jana Pritz, sophomores Pam Hilligoss and Penny Overstreet and freshmen Barbara Thompson and Becky Sigmon.

Jamboree Queen, Bobbi Bergdoll, was escorted during the pre-game ceremonies of the 1968 Football Jamboree by coach, Mr. Dick McLeish. The vivacious cheerleader was elected last spring.

Queen Betty Rennard is crowned by Student Council Representative, John Easterday.

Candidates for the 1968 Jamboree are Mary Ring, Roberta Skelton, Cheryl Mee, Sally Frick, Bobbi Bergdoll and Nancy Keppler. Sophomore Bobbi Bergdoll was elected queen.

Homecoming Activities

Dawn Moxey and Ron Pastrick, sophomores, smile as Mr. Tout adjusts their crowns.

Basketball Homecoming festivities this December provided both excitement and suspense in the forms of a basketball game between Lawrence Central and the Hornets and the election of Denise Page as Homecoming Queen.

Cupids, lacey valentines and a spirit of romance made Howe's first Sweetheart Ball a success. The dance was the first Tower-sponsored affair. King and Queen of the ball were chosen from couples attending the dance, rather than from nominated candidates. Sophomores Dawn Moxey and Ron Pastrick reigned for the evening.

Some 225 couples enjoy themselves at the 1968 "Brown and Gold," held in the cafeteria. The password "Joe Sent Me" was necessary to gain admittance to the 1920's Speak Easy.

Dances Add

"The Roaring Twenties" was the theme of the 1968 "Brown and Gold." Held in the cafeteria, which was converted into a Speak Easy, the dance was well-attended by Howe students and their dates.

Seniors Mike Fotiades and Jean Eckert were elected Brown Boy and Golden Girl by students who bought a 1968 HILLTOPPER. The "Brown and Gold" is sponsored annually by the yearbook staff.

...Howe's most popular dance, the "Turn-About-Twirl," was held April 20. The festive theme, "Carnival," was carried out with side-show posters on the windows and a giant merry-go-round in the center of the cafeteria. Senior Gil Hubbard was elected Mr. Topper. The "Turn-About-Twirl" is also sponsored by the yearbook staff.

Candidates for 1968 Golden Girl and Brown Boy are Marcia West, Jeannie Eckert, Diane Crenshaw, Sandra Hunt, Ron Clark, Mike Fotiades, Larry Scharbrough, and Gary Hubbard. Seniors Mike Fotiades and Jean Eckert were chosen to reign at the dance.

CANDIDATES FOR 1968 MR. TOPPER: Gil Hubbard, Craig Sanders, Harold Potter, Dennis Maxberry, Lester Hollon, Bill Storie, Paul Storm and Kerry Doughty. Senior Gil Hubbard was elected Mr. Topper by girls attending the "Turn-About-Twirl."

Couples danced under a Merry-Go-Round canopy at the 1968 Turn-About-Twirl.

Carousels on the tables and Merry-Go-Round horses on the poles helped the yearbook staff to carry out the theme of their spring dance, the Turn-About-Twirl.

ROTC Sponsors Annual Military Ball

Queen candidates and their escorts are Gary Osborn, Cindy Kretheotis, Phil Baumgardt, Janet Runciman, Joe Burchett, Meredith Craig, Brian Perdue, Patti Dulin, Jeff Bertram and Marilyn Hurt. Candidates, traditionally, are the battalion's sponsors.

Howe's annual Military Ball was held March 16 in the cafeteria. ROTC cadets and sponsors were in charge of decorations and refreshments for the dance. The theme, "Let Freedom Ring," was carried out with a giant flag and bells on the walls and posts. Cadet 1st Lt. Richard Hawkins was chairman of the decorations committee; senior Battalion Sponsor Cindy Kretheotis was elected queen of the Ball by the cadets. Other sponsors vying for the title were senior Janet Runciman and juniors Meredith Craig, Patti Dulin and Marilyn Hurt. Music for the dance was provided by the High-lighters, a professional band.

Winter Wonderland Begins Yule Season

The Winter Wonderland dance, held in the cafeteria after school on Tuesday, December 10, provided enjoyment and extra Christmas spirit to all who were present. Co-sponsored by the Student Council and the Girls Athletic Association, it is the only afterschool dance held at Howe each year. Complete with candy canes, holiday refreshments and a Santa Claus (otherwise known as Mr. Marcus Van Horn, chemistry teacher at Howe), the dance was well-attended. A Winter Wonderland king was chosen by those attending the dance from pre-nominated candidates. Candidates included Bob Bristow and Mike Miller, freshmen; Randy Deane and Rick Kutche, sophomores; Jeff Beeler and Dennis Walston, juniors; and Jerry Bertram and Mark Watkins, seniors. Dennis was crowned king during intermission by Bonnie Botts, senior. A combo provided dance music.

Pleasant Run Variety Show Climaxes

Ron Spice, knight of feudal times, rides a very strange horse.

Becky Clingerman and Leota Tex perform an intricate tap dance routine.

Presented January 8 in the Howe auditorium, the Pleasant Run Variety Show exhibited musical talent, serious acting ability and humorous interpretations for the Irvington community.

A surplus of acts was presented in tryouts held in preparation for the final performance. After careful scrutiny and final elimination, Mr. Bruce Beck, Miss Rhoda Kittelsen, Miss Sue Zabst, and Miss Janice Brown, faculty judges, selected approximately fifty acts.

In past years, themes for the Pleasant Run Varieties have centered around Disneyland, a tour of the U.S., and Broadway. The 1968 PRV theme was "Just As We Are." An innovation was tried at this year's PRV when the Master and Mistress of Ceremonies encouraged audience participation by engaging specific guests in conversation. Simple staging complemented the winter show.

Fall Semester At Howe

Howe's cheerleaders, garbed in everything from a World War I flying ace outfit to an Annie Oakley suit, perform at the PRV.

Chris Worrell and Gary Hill preside as Mistress and Master of Ceremonies.

A chorus line of questionable-looking Howe students execute a lively dance to the delight of the PRV audience. The "bunnies" entitled their act, "Legs, Inc."

Musical leads, Harold Potter and Alexandra Stalas, are reunited at the play's end.

Cast members rehearse the "Honey Bun" scene, in which the nurses present a musical production designed to raise the low morale of the enlisted men stationed on the island.

'South Pacific' Recreates

Being introduced to the carefree attitudes of the islanders, Mark Watkins learns the "Bali Ha'i" philosophy expressed by Mary Lau and Karla Pannell in the "Happy Talk" lyrics.

Bemoaning the loneliness of their military existence, the soldiers and sailors voice their praises of the "fair sex" in the song, "There Is Nothing Like A Dame," while nurses

Marcia Reasoner and Brenda Cook laugh at the rollicking lyrics.

Mystical Islands Of World War II

Once the stage crew had surmounted the problem of constructing a south sea island on the Hornet stage, the progress of the Music Department's "South Pacific" went smoothly. This year's musical played to three full houses.

Harold Potter had no difficulty switching from the English Prof. Henry Higgins to the French Emile de Becque; Alexandra Stalas washed her hair as efficiently as did Mary Martin.

Audiences responded as expected to the antics of Luther Billis and to the familiar love story of Cable and Liat, but Bloody Mary stole the show with her sentimental rendition of "Bali Ha'i" and "Happy Talk."

Mock Election Gives Students Chance

NATIONALIST CANDIDATES: Tim Boosinger, Ed Warriner, Richard Price, Greg Graham, Kim Hughes, Nancy McCormick, Mark Watkins, Marcia Stroud, Hollis Becker, Kathy Patrick, Meredith Craig, Pamela Saba, Phyllis Bhend, Bonnie Botts.

At the Mock Election held on Tuesday, November 12, Howeites elected Federalist Pat Dugan Governor of the State of Howe. Tim Boosinger was candidate for Governor from the Nationalist party.

Students enrolled in either U.S. History, Government, or Economics classes are eligible to participate in the Mock Election, either as a candidate or as a voter. Participating students are assigned to the Federalist or Nationalist parties by their individual teachers.

Mr. Don Evans and Miss Mary McLane served as Federalist party sponsors. Mr. Ron Finkbiner and Mr. Errol Spears aided the Nationalists party this year.

FEDERALIST CANDIDATES: Charles Scharbrough, John Harkness, Pat Dugan, Jerry Stockdale, Wayne Evans, Bill Smith, Carol

McClure, Mike Dobrota, Nancy Bruner, Randy Morgan, Kathi Hancock, Marcia Reasoner, Sandy Dobbs, Marilyn Duhamell,

Becky Faith, Nancy Keppler, Jerri Moody. Happy smiles of victory are reflected in these candidates' faces.

Dave Martin serves as keynote speaker at the Federalist party convention.

Proud Seniors Remember Hard Road

Senior Pamela McKim accepts the DAR Good Citizen Award from Mrs. Max Barney.

Academic achievement, stressed by both students and faculty, has been recognized in many ways throughout the year.

This fall a new method of determining Honor Roll standing was initiated in all city high schools. A 6.0 grade average, rather than 30 honor points, was the basis for Honor Roll status.

Honor societies in specific areas of learning as well as the inclusive

NHS continued to increase in size and number. They not only honored "the cream of the crop," but encouraged student initiative and interest.

On Honors Day selected seniors and underclassmen were presented awards for citizenship and outstanding accomplishments in many fields. Departments also recognized those completing majors with high grade averages.

Gregory Graham, Patrick Dugan and John Ford, seniors, profitably spent one week of their summer vacation at Hoosier Boys' State on the Indiana University campus.

Seniors Marcia Reasoner and Julia Alexander represented Howe at Girls' State.

To Great Achievements

Margaret Pash and Pamela McKim, academic leaders of the Class of '69, wonder if the condition of the campus will improve in time for Commencement.

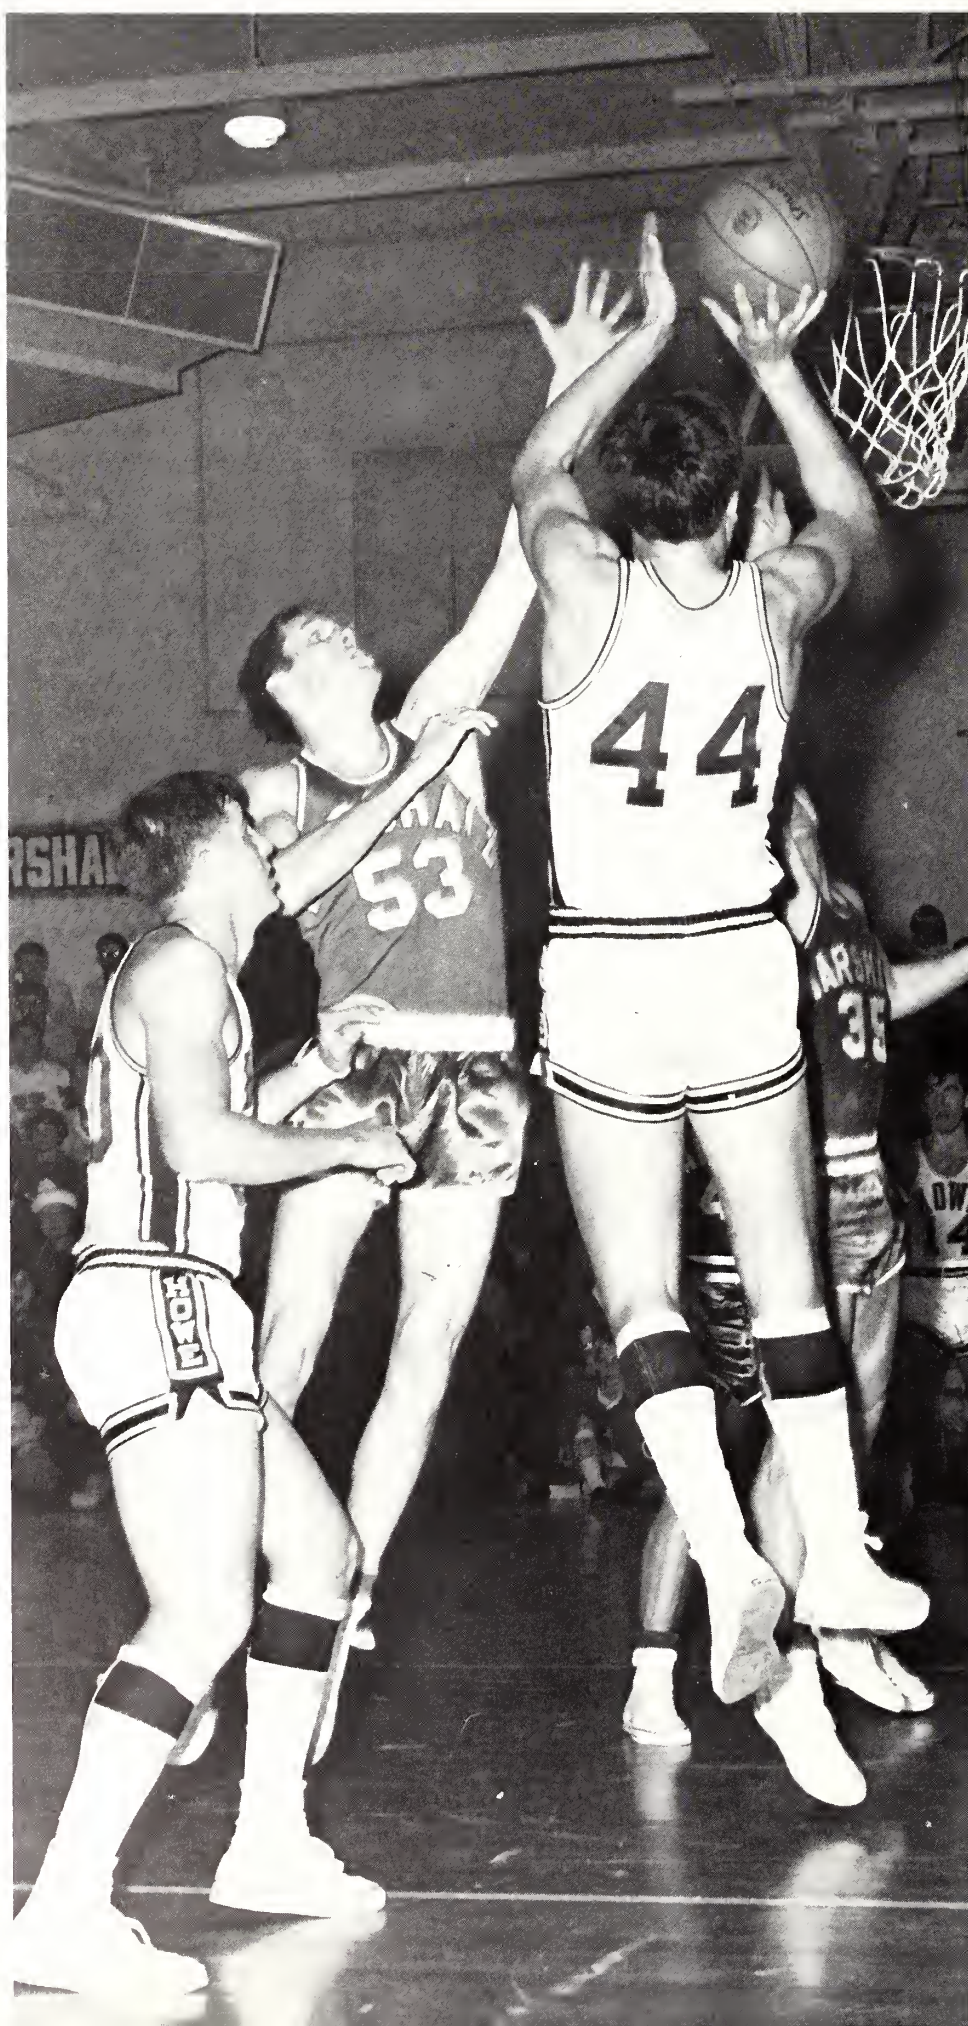

Jerry Stockdale, Phyllis Hawkins and Hal Gustin, National Merit Finalists, discuss some of the difficult questions remembered from the three-hour exam.

Elizabeth Cobb happily recalls her trip to Italy with the I.U. Honors Program.

Tom Amos and Alexandra Stalas are proud American Legion Awards winners.

If The Tower

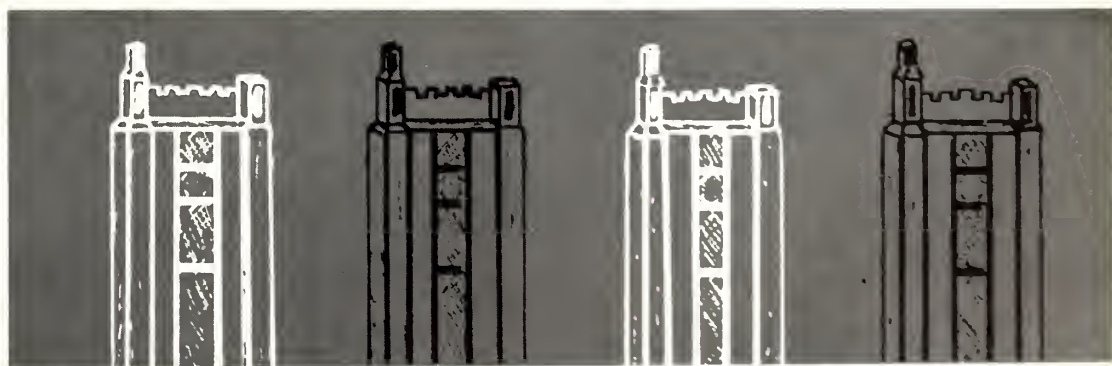

Could Talk About Athletics . . .

A skilled coaching staff, superior team members, spirited cheerleaders and loyal fans all participated in Howe's successful sports season this year.

An integral part of any high school, athletics played a major role in the life of many students. Boys ran cross country, competed in track meets, played basketball, football and baseball, and took part in tennis and golf matches under the Tower's faithful watch.

Displaying all-around good sportsmanship, Howe athletes and fans distinguished themselves in another year of athletic activity.

Award Winners Form Lettermen's Club

Under the sponsorship of athletic director, Mr. Samuel Kelley, the Lettermen's Club functioned as both an honor and a service organization.

To be eligible for membership in the club, boys must earn a varsity letter in one sport. Members donate their help as ticket takers, floor sweepers, program distributors, sideline officials, and guides for guests at all athletic events.

Jerry Bertram, president, was aided by other officers Brad Rome-rill, Charles Pettee, Hollis Becker and Paul Shelton.

An Athletic Council composed of lettermen and coaches meet at the end of each season to determine who will win awards.

Highlighting the intermissions at all home basketball games is the music from the Hornet Pep Band. The group, often joined by returning alums, accompanies the Drill Team and Yell Leaders.

Swingin' Musicians Form Pep Band

Three seniors, Gary Hill, Harold Potter and Ron Spice, took turns directing the Pep Band this year. When they weren't wielding the baton, they were playing their respective instruments.

"Hang on Sloopy" and Tijuana Brass mimicry were popular with the Band. However, they were heard more often rendering "Rufus Rastus" and "Blues for Louie" from a "Story of Jazz" collection.

The group not only performed solo, but accompanied the Hornet Honeys during their routines and added zest to specific yells. Jerry Stockdale and Glen Jones alternated at the drums.

Harold Potter, Bruce Stroud and David Sherron comprise part of the woodwinds.

A one-man gym team, Gene Coyle represents Howe at many state-wide meets.

Practicing an uneven bars routine, Sue Evans is spotted by Miss Janice Brown.

Cherry, Patty Marendt, Karla Pannell, Mary Ring and their sponsor, Miss Janice Brown. This year's team record was a winning one, although competition was stiff.

Athletically minded girls discovered a variety of outlets for their skills. Those wishing to improve their physical being or merely to enjoy the companionship of others in competitive games met with the Girl's Athletic Association each Wednesday afternoon. Miss Sue Zabst sponsored the group.

Girls gymnastics flourished this year after a minimum of meets last winter. Mary Ring, sophomore in last year's competition, took second place in advanced floor exercises during the state meets.

Miss Janice Brown, gymnastic team sponsor, organized the second girls' inter-school team this year. "A" and "B" volleyball teams played a six game schedule.

Assistance To Varsity Football Squad

Two new coaches and a group of determined Hornets combined their efforts to produce a winning varsity football season.

Mr. Dick McLeish left his position as assistant coach to replace Mr. Bob Wion as head mentor. Mr. Tom Cousineau, former Northwest teacher and Indianapolis Capital's player, became his aide.

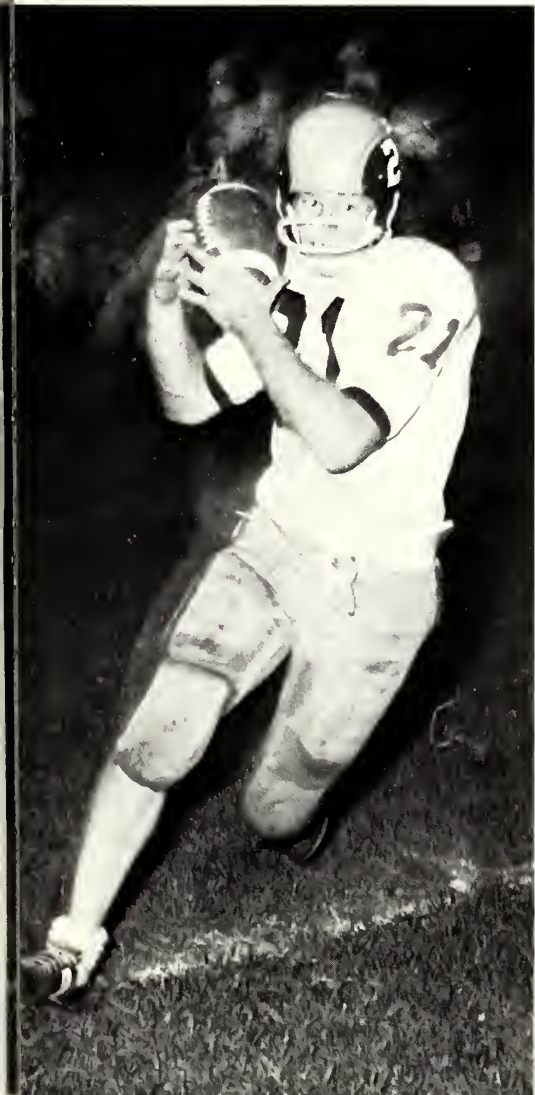

Statistics prove the team's ability. The offense covered 2155 yards on the ground and compiled 125 first downs; Tom Marendt and Don Britton averaged 6.8 yards per carry. Marendt also led the defense with 90 tackles and four interceptions. Larry Miller had 59 tackles; Willie Perry had three interceptions.

Don Jones kicked 14 extra points, two of them providing the winning margin over Warren Central.

Husky blockers serve as a brick wall to give quarterback Richard Kutche time to successfully execute a toss-out against Manual.

Senior Don Britton picks the ball from the air as he runs for the extra yardage.

Junior Larry Scharbrough, second string quarterback, attempts an aerial pass in hope of gaining valuable yardage against the Washington Continentals. A senior next year, he will offer strong competition to Tom Marendt for the position.

Ex-City Team Holds On To Hornet

Coach Dick McLeish emphatically points out a game error to Charles Scharbrough.

Mike Wieneke, No. 71, steps wide to evade Dennis Walston, No. 82, and his Washington Continental blocker. The Hornets failed in their attempt to stop the west-siders.

Enthusiastic but sidelined Hornets scream encouragement to their teammates.

Sting For New Varsity Coach

Quarterback Tom Marendt and end Larry Miller were named by sports writers to the All-City squad. They attended Mayor Richard Lugar's luncheon along with other athletes so honored.

At the Fall Sports Banquet Mr. Conrad Romeril, Men's 400 Club president, presented Marendt with the Most Valuable Player trophy; he and Willie Perry were named honorary co-captains by the team.

Jerry Bertram received the Best Mental Attitude Award from Mr. Samuel Kelley, president of the Irvington Kiwanis.

Coach Tom Cousineau and senior Mike Fotiades discuss a third-quarter play.

Tom Marendt escapes one Arlington tackler; Steve Reilly rushes to block another.

Stewart's JV's File Impressive Record

Coach David Stewart proclaimed his junior varsity team "one of the finest he has ever coached." The squad lost only one game; mid-way through the season Broad Ripple slipped by the JV Hornets, 19—13.

Defense keyed the impressive 7—1—2 record. Captain Rick Wren led the defensive unit that allowed only the Rockets to score more than one touchdown against the reserves.

Tom Summit, Craig Reed, Randy Deane, Joe Eaton and Larry Whitmore scored most of the JV's tallies. Dave Utigard, Bill Deeter and John Lyons led the defense.

Averaging only one TD at the beginning of the season, the team closed the season with an average of four six-pointers per game.

Bad Luck Plagues Freshman Team

Freshmen athletes learned to play football from Mr. Jim Lynch and Mr. Harrison Richardson when they came to school in the fall.

Although the 6—4 record was disappointing, much blame could be placed on several of the most promising young gridders who failed to make their grades.

Harold Baxter was the leading scorer; Dan Brown and Kevin Culley vied for the team's quarterback honors. "Our strongest point was our backfield," explained Coach Lynch.

Varsity and reserve cross country runners enjoyed a mild season as far as the weather was concerned but failed to provide new coach, Mr. Billy Wood, with even a mild record.

Freshman Peter VanMaaren took over where his brother, Henry, left off when graduation halted his running career. The underclassman placed well in front of his elders in most of the long-distance runs.

Experience and maturity should provide the Hornets with an improved '70 record.

Even though the start of a cross-country meet is always crowded only one of the many contenders will be the winner of this grueling event.

Finishing a race first requires senior Steve Layman's utmost effort.

Freshman Runners Finish Season Even

FRESHMAN CROSS COUNTRY: Tom Gott, Dan DeLay, Jeff Dunaway, Mike Skaggs, Mark

With the assistance of Coach Dick Patterson, the freshman cross country team ended their 1968 season with four wins, one of which came from a forfeit, and four losses. In addition to the eight dual meets, the freshmen competed in invitational at Howe, Northwest, and Shortridge, and also ran in the City Meet.

Each year an award is given to the freshman cross country team member who runs the one-and-a-half mile course in 8:30 or less time. This year's recipients were Randy Burchett and Steve Richter.

Home cross-country meets begin near School 82 and continue through nearby Christian Park for a distance of two difficult miles.

Tearful Sectional Loss Ends Varsity's

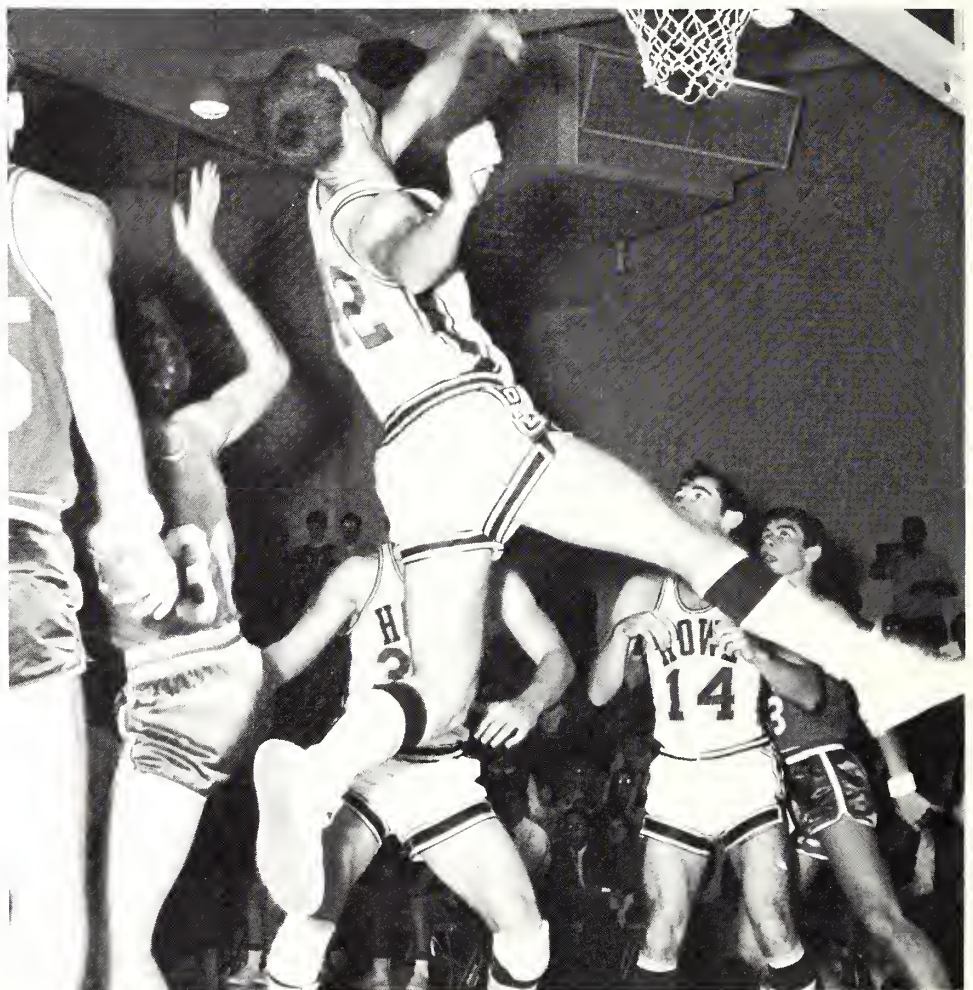

Only the ball is missing in the action between the Hornets and Lawrence Bears.

Precariously placed in air, senior Larry Miller shoots around a Franklin player.

Sophomore Craig Reinhardt looks evenly matched against his Southport foe as both go up for the tip with a hand on the ball. Other players maneuver for position.

Uphill Season Struggle

With 18 seconds left in the game, the score was 70-70, and the Hornets had the ball out of bounds underneath their own basket. Howe lost possession of the ball with three seconds to go and Shortridge scored the winning basket to win the final Sectional game.

Reaching the finals by defeating the Deaf School and Northwest, the Hornets truly played their best game of the season against the seventh rated Blue Devils. Craig Reinhardt tallied 17 points in the game; he and Gary Throckmorton were named to All-Tourney Teams by city newspapers.

During the semester break, the Hornets lost their first game of the City Tourney to Cathedral, 98-75. Coach Jim Stutz's tenth year of coaching the Hornet varsity saw one "first" established—Tech's Titans finally played on the Hornet floor.

As always, November heralded the beginning of Hoosier hysteria. In the spotlight for nearly four months, basketball brought happiness, excitement and a few tears to Howeites this year. JV games proved to be as emotional as the varsity, even though sparse crowds were present at the start of the 6:30 p.m. encounters.

Coached by Mr. Dave Stewart, the junior varsity completed a 17-4 season. They captured the City Crown by defeating Shortridge, Broad Ripple, Washington and Crispus Attacks. The JV's also bested the Marion County reserve champion, Warren Central, on the Warriors' court.

High scorers and top defenders included Tracy Ellis, Dennis Walston, Bill Fleener, Horst Holstein and Mark Miller.

Even, at the end of the regular season, the freshman basketball team defeated Shortridge, 58—41, before losing to Arlington, 42—33, in the City Tourney. With revenge in mind, Mr. Bob Mitchell's squad bested the Golden Knights, in the final game of the season.

Outstanding scorer, Dan Brown, tossed in 182 points for a 10.1 average. Kevin Culley, Bryan Berger, Louis Saba, Bob Maffett and Jim DeFur exhibited fine play during the season. "A fine group to work with," said Mr. Mitchell.

Winning only over Lawrence Central and Wood, the varsity matmen struggled in vain against ten other regularly scheduled opponents.

Other medal winners in the Sectionals held at Lawrence included Mark Stephens (165 lbs.), and Jerry Bertram (175 lbs.), seconds; and Tim Boosinger, heavyweight, fourth.

In addition to Jerry and Tim, consistent winners for the team during the season were John Easterday (133 lbs.) and Greg Burton (103 lbs.). John and Jerry finished fourth in the City Tourney.

Bill Tafflinger, Jeff Martin, Steve Davis and Gary Throckmorton set a 1:33.6 880 relay record, as Mike Priest, Charles Pettee, Jerry Bertram and Charles Scharbrough ran the mile relay in 3:27.8.

City Champ Alan Koehring soared 12' 7" for the pole vault mark.

Snow limited the field to 55 teams at the Howe hosted Hoosier Relays in which Jim Aldrich, Steve Chadwick, Bruce Dobson and Dennis Findley placed fourth in the two-mile relay finals.

Howeites finished eighth in the 14 team City Meet.

Roster Changes Vary Reserve Scores

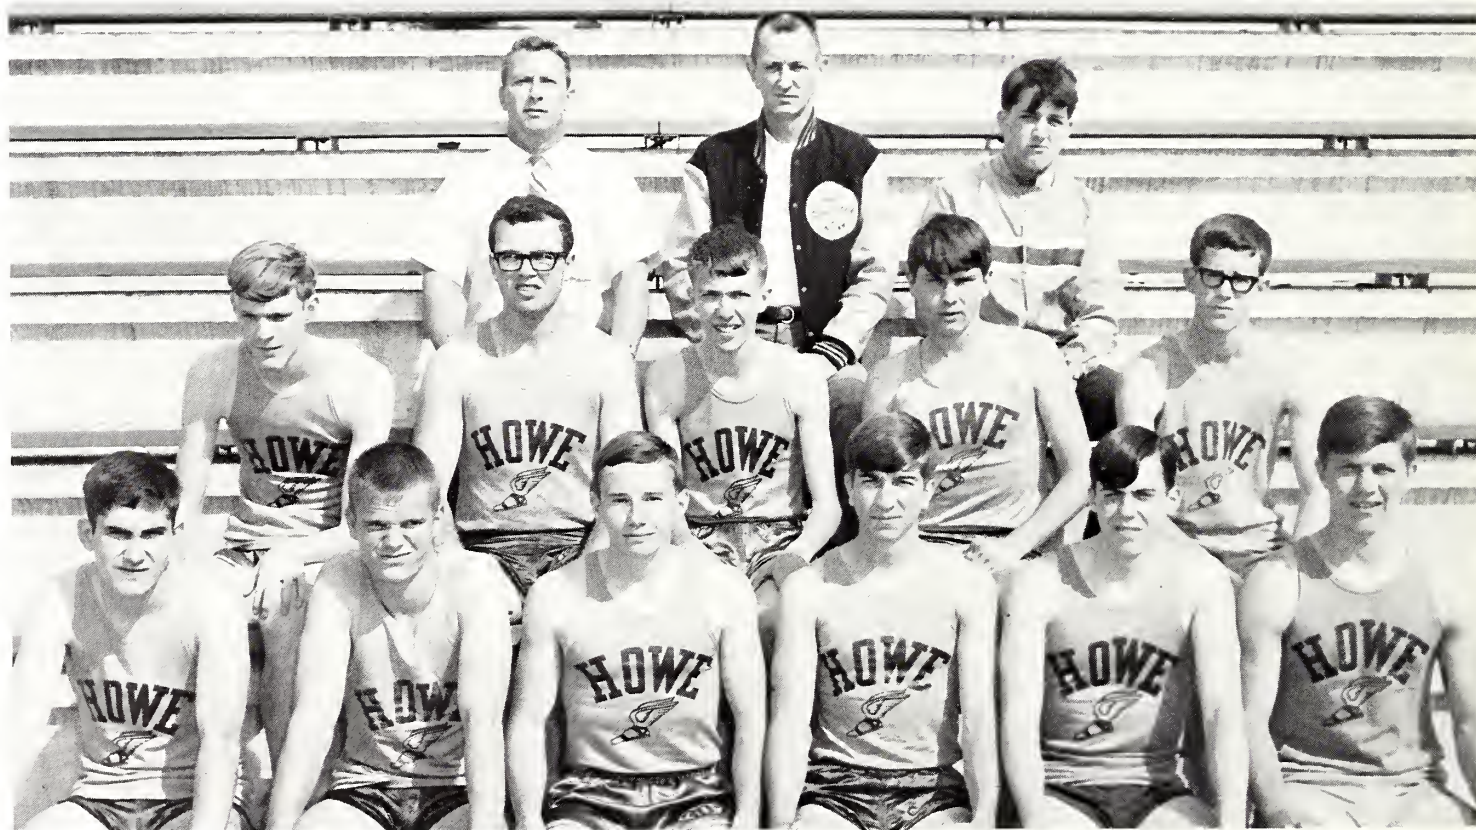

Determination to win a long distance event is evident in the faces of all competitors even though Coach Bill Walker's attention is distracted.

Under the direction of Coach Bill Walker and Assistant Coach Dick McCleish, the junior varsity team make-up varied from meet to meet with the addition of ever improving members from the freshman team and promotion of reserves to the varsity squad.

Winning only half of their dual meets and placing second and third in their triangular meets gave the JV's a goal for next year.

Talented Freshmen Set Six Records

This year's freshman trackmen set six new records. Lenny Thornburg led the way earning two of the six, one in shotput with a heave of 36', the other in the 440 with a time of :57.4. Joe Easterday set a new low hurdle record of :23.2. John Rader ran the 220 in 23.0; the 880 relay team's best time was 1:42.0. A pole vault record of 9' 6" was earned by Mike Throckmorton.

These gifted frosh won all four of their meets and finally tied for fifth place in the 17 team City Meet. A place on the varsity squad is sure to be available for those who continue to compete.

Joe Easterday exhibits excellent form as he flies over the first of the high hurdles in a record breaking race.

With Third Game Loss In Sectionals

Individual potential failed to give the varsity baseball team the impetus it needed for a winning season. Named Most Valuable Player, junior Ron Clark pitched in 16 of 20 games, striking out 88 opposing batters. He and Don Britton accounted for eight of the team's ten wins.

A loss to Marshall in the third game of the Sectionals gave the Hornets an even 10 win—10 loss record. Britton missed the tournament because of illness.

Prospects for the '69 season lie with returning pitchers Clark, and Britton; Mike Fotiades, Greg Combs, Gary Marshall, Dave Smith and Dave Miller are experienced in the field and at bat.

Coach Jim Poalston "holds-up" Ron Clark after his three-bagger.

A strong bench is a vital part of any sports event. Fidgety Hornet players await their time at bat as junior Ken Flynn begins his warm up.

Junior Ron Clark delivers the pitch that struck out many capable opponents.

JV Boasts 11—3 Record;

Mr. Dick Patterson, science teacher and former frosh baseball coach, took over the reigns of the reserve squad in the spring of '68. Mr. Patterson, himself, once played for the Howe nine.

Outstanding pitcher, Mike Wray, won seven of nine games he pitched. Larry Scharbrough had a 2—0 record; Mark Miller went 1—0; and Dave Smith finished 2—1. Ken Flynn and Dan McNew topped the batting column.

The squad lost to an Arlington nine, but two losses late in the season to Cathedral and to North Central squelched all hopes of winning the coveted City title. These games were Wray's only losses. As the Hornets committed five errors, the Panthers scored five unearned runs.

A rainy spring cancelled games and made rescheduling difficult.

Particularly disappointing was the game with Cathedral. Ahead 2—0 as the ninth began, the Hornets let the Irish tie and go on to win.

Individual Records Contribute To Wins

Under the direction of Coach Don Evans, social studies instructor, a team record of 11 wins and two losses were earned by 1968 golfers. Senior Brad Eshelman, the key figure this season, averaged 38.5 points per nine holes and 23 1/2 match points. He was named honorary captain and most valuable player. In the City Tournament the team placed fifth; Sectional play found Howe eleventh of 21 teams.

Seniors dominate play this year; therefore, next year's squad will be lacking four of it's best. Upcoming sophomore lettermen Dave Martin and Bruce Bottom have proven, however, that age is of little importance with their 43.3 and 44.75 point average per nine holes, respectively. Home contests were played at Pleasant Run.

Settling for a balanced season of seven wins and six losses, Mr. Ray Riley directed the tennis team for the second consecutive year.

Number one man, freshman Paul Thomas, utilized his skill to take fourth in the City, become runner-up in the Southport Sectional, and win the Howe Invitational. Junior Bill Smith also won his Invitational and placed third in the City competition. David Thomas, junior, was seeded second on the squad.

Without a doubt Hornet tennis teams will be dependent on Paul Thomas to spark their future efforts. However, the entire team with the exception of graduating Craig Pedrey, will return next year.

Team Effort Vital To Intramurals

Varsity athletics cannot accommodate all students interested in team competition. Intramural bowling and basketball help bridge this gap for some.

Junior Rick Hanson captured most of the single honors in the Monday afternoon bowling league at Play Bowl. Mr. Dick Patterson, sponsor, presented the team trophy to Rick, Dan Pearson, Rob Fawver and Gary Shirley.

Marsha and Debbie Calvert, Carolyn Martin and Beth Bonn won the girls' team trophy; Mary Ring, junior, had the highest average.

Mr. Errol Spears and Mr. David Richards sponsored the two basketball divisions. Ric Bennett's Pacers won the freshman-sophomore league; Pat Dugan captained the winning senior team.

In intramural competition players' outfits are always varied and colorful. Teams are identified as "shirts" and "skins" instead of by numbers.

Concentration and determination symbolize the form of junior bowler Janet Dunn.

Dinkens Directs Student Managers

Directed by Mr. Dale Dinkens, English teacher, the student managers served as one of Howe's important teams. Cleaning used equipment, keeping scores and doing the troublesome jobs no one else had time for were activities performed well by this squad. Managers' work began before school opened; it will end only after school is over.

A team is only as strong as its weakest player, but coaches can create a winning team. Assigned to new coaching duties in the spring of 1969 were Mr. Dick Patterson, Mr. Jim Lynch and Mr. Richard Hughes, baseball; Mr. Ron Finkbiner, tennis; and Mr. Billy Wood and Mr. Bill Farrell, track.

If The Tower

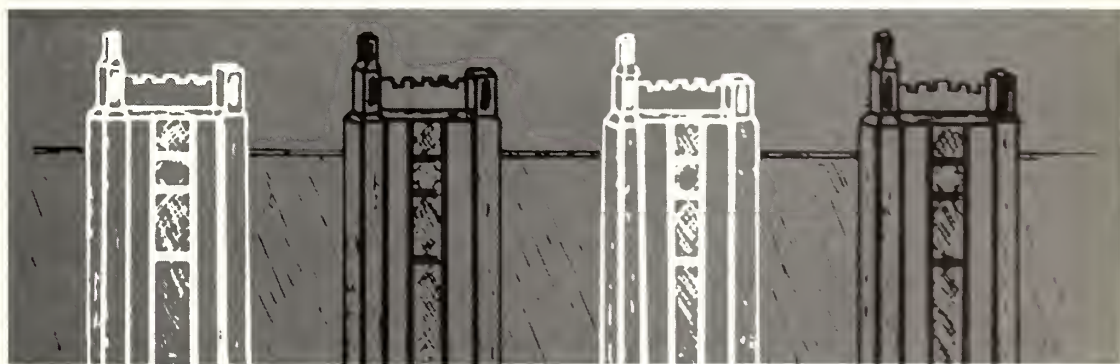

Could Talk About Underclassmen . . .

Beneath the Tower countless underclassmen have bled, sweat, toiled, and cried, hoping but not entirely believing that someday they would graduate.

Frustrations were many for freshmen, who had to cope with tricky lockers and long homeroom periods. Sophomores acquired an amazing degree of self-confidence, having learned their way around the school. With the advent of college admissions tests and job applications, self-consciousness returned to juniors. However, perseverance was rewarded with graduation for most Howeites.

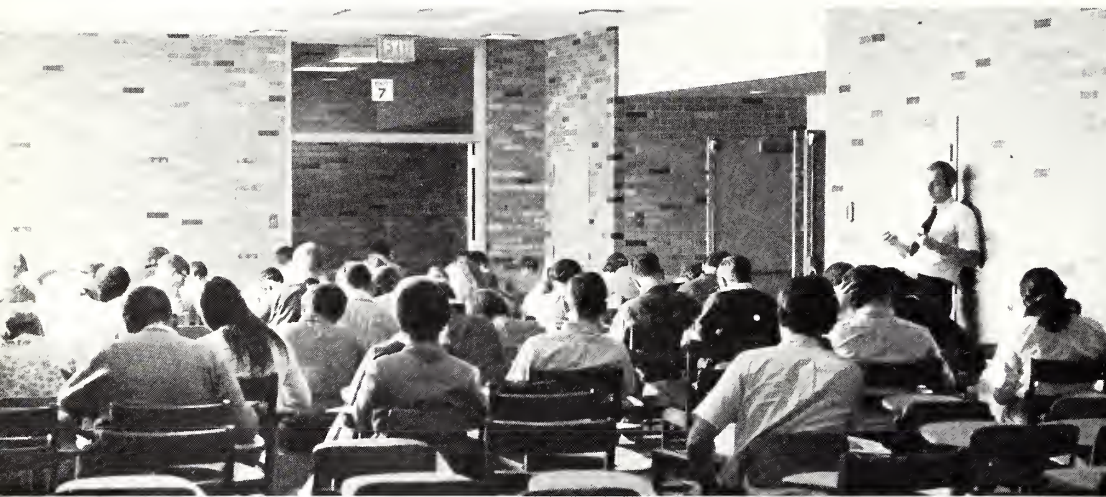

Frosh Plan Classes, Learn To Study

In order to help freshmen become accustomed to high school life, students were enrolled in orientation, a course designed specifically for ninth graders. The second-semester program, entitled Vocational Information, helped to acquaint pupils with professional and occupational statistics important to their future careers. Freshmen became familiar with required and elective courses in order to assist them in the planning of their programs, an experience unlike anything else they had ever encountered.

This year's freshman class was the largest ever to enroll at Howe. The total of 725 students consists of 370 girls and 355 boys. Thirty-four new teachers joined the faculty.

Awaiting the completion of Room 269, pupils study in the third floor auditorium lobby. Rooms 268 and 269 were opened to meet the demands of an increased enrollment.

Orientation classes serve as study halls when students do not need counselling.

Sophs Complete Required

For the first time this year, sophomores purchased class rings instead of having to wait until their junior year.

The class of '71 was exempt this year from the usual insect collection. Instead, they contributed to a class collection. Sophomores did hand in the customary vocational themes in English 3 and leaf collections in biology.

Members of the sophomore class participated on a City Champion basketball team. The boys showed great potential and are expected to be important members of next year's reserve and varsity squads.

Being completely oriented, the sophomores proved to be useful guides for the freshmen.

Juniors Face Chemistry, College Boards

Being an upperclassman for the first time is a wonderful thing, as all juniors know. Wearing a class ring, taking College Boards, planning a unique Prom, these are all part of a junior's year.

Although the class of 1970 was one of the biggest and busiest ever, juniors still found time to play on varsity teams, participate in PRV and take the all-important SAT test. During the year, they were initiated into various honor societies; 3 representatives from the class were elected Football and Basketball Homecoming Queens and Winter Wonderland King. Many were active in school organizations; talented students participated in musical and dramatic productions. Being active did not keep the juniors from studying hard. In spite of chemistry many earned honor roll status.

If The Tower

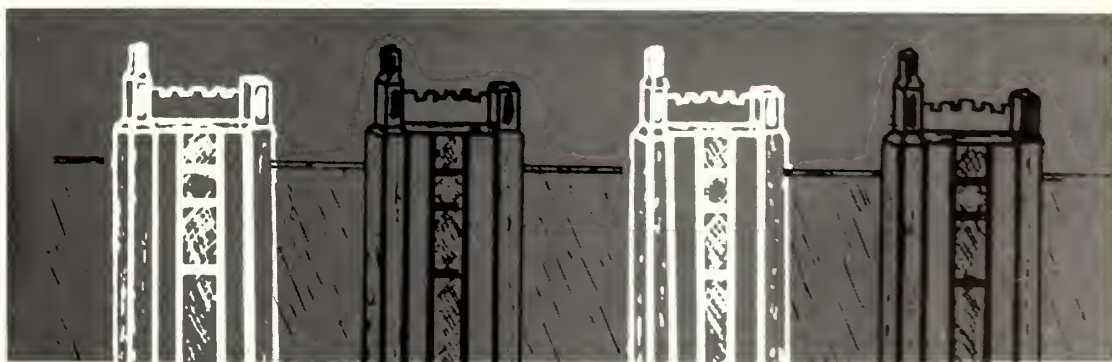

Could Talk About Seniors . . .

As the Tower gazed down on graduation ceremonies this year, it witnessed the climax of high school careers and the beginning of the "future" for new alums.

Seniors will recall that in their last year astronauts circled the moon, hearts were transplanted, the Pueblo crew was returned, and young men continued to serve their country in Vietnam. Through all crises and triumphs, the Tower serenely guarded its seniors.

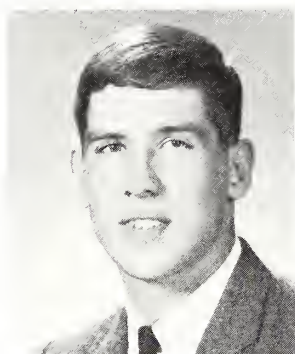

Many grads will now pursue college careers; others will marry, and still others will begin working and "living in the world."

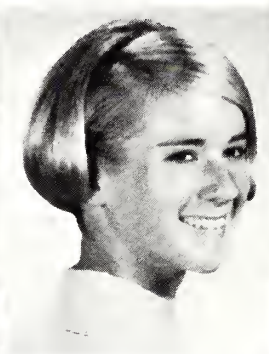

Seniors Elect Committees; Add Two Officers To Serve

By the time a student reaches senior status, time passes too quickly. September brought the election of officers and committees. "Outward Bound", the 1969 Senior Play, broke sales records with its performance in November. Any senior who had paid his class dues attended the Senior Winter Party in early December.

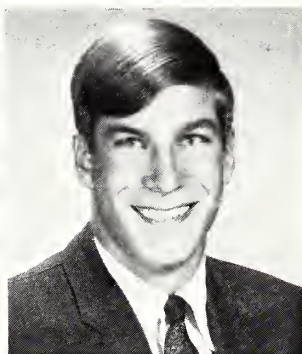

Prior to the change of semester in January, the class was measured for caps and gowns. March saw the seniors unite against the faculty and underclassmen at the yearly Senior-Faculty basketball game. Plans for the second annual senior week in May were climaxed with the Spring Party on the senior's last full day of school. Long awaited Vespers and Commencement brought the senior's high school career to an end.

Editor's Page

With the completion of this book, the HILLTOPPER staff would like to acknowledge the invaluable assistance of all involved in yearbook production.

Sound advice and many imaginative ideas were obtained from the American Yearbook Company, especially from Mr. William Wright, the company's representative.

Countless pictures would not have been seen in this book had it not been for the help of Mr. James Shields, owner of Tower Studios. Mr. Shields not only managed the underclassmen portraits but also captured many exciting moments on film, while training the photographers who were members of the yearbook staff.

Special thanks are due Mrs. Patricia Alexander, who throughout the year acted as sponsor, counselor, taskmaster, and sympathizer. She unlocked the school door on the Saturdays when the staff worked to meet deadlines, and she wrote the last two lines of copy no one could produce.

If The Tower Could Talk . . .

For thirty years the Tower which rises above Howe High School has been witness to many things: the coming and going of students and teachers, the additions of new wings and a stadium, student activities—including classes, plays, proms, debates, mock elections, and traffic jams at Exit 5, and competition in many sports fields—track, football, basketball and baseball. The Tower has not only witnessed these events, but has become a part of them.

Photographers have taken many interesting pictures from the Tower. Old lab equipment is stored there by the Foreign Language Department; its solitude attracts ambitious pupils who find it easier to study in the Tower's quiet and inspiring atmosphere.

Clearly visible from the National Highway, the Tower symbolizes Howe and will continue to represent its diverse educational philosophy for all future Hornets.
